

Steel Strike Over for 750,000 Workers; Dewey Sure G. M. Turmoil Can End Soon

Company And Union In Huddle

Bosses, Auto Workers in Accord to Stay in Conference Till They Agree

Early Production

Non-Wage Disputes May
Be One Snag to an Immediate Start

Detroit, Feb. 16 (AP)—Special
Mediator James F. Dewey today called top officials of General Motors Corp. and the C.I.O. United Auto Workers back into a huddle,
which, he predicted, "could" end
in a settlement of the 88-day G.M.
strike.

For the second straight day corporation representatives were headed by President C. E. W. and the union delegation was led by President R. J. Thomas. Dewey said both had agreed to "sit through to the finish."

Although the U. S. Steel Corp.
strike settlement was largely discounted by the special mediator
as an important influence on the G.M. dispute, union leaders hailed
it as a factor which would hasten
an agreement.

Steel Has Bearing
The steel settlement, Thomas said, "should mean the wage disputes in the industries dependent upon steel should be settled more rapidly and will mean early full civilian production and employment."

Walter P. Reuther, U.A.W.-
C.I.O. vice president and G.M.
strike leader, declined comment but a union spokesman pointed to Reuther's statement of several days ago when he said G.M. was
"just dragging its feet until the steel strike is settled."

Thomas said he was "very glad that Philip Murray has been able to settle the steel strike." He added, however, "it is very doubtful if our settlement with G.M.
will come this week-end," because of a number of non-wage issues
still to be worked out.

Particular significance was attached by some observers to the fact that the dispute two weeks ago Dewey plans to stay in Detroit over the week-end. The mediator said "night and day sessions—Sunday included" would be held if necessary.

Thomas said there was "nothing to the report" that the union would agree to an 18½ cent an hour (16½ per cent) increase for the 175,000 striking G.M. workers, providing other issues were ironed out satisfactorily.

The U.A.W. turned down such a G.M.
offer Tuesday, demanding at least 19½ cents (17½ per cent) as recommended by a presidential fact-finding board.

Paved the Way

Automotive competitors of General Motors looked to the agreement with U. S. Steel as a means of paving the way for full production.

The Ford Motor Co., its assembly lines in most plants closed for several weeks by a steel shortage,
said it hoped to resume normal operations "within two weeks."

As the labor picture brightened on several fronts, however, the U.A.W.-C.I.O. announced it was contemplating strike action in six of Bendix Aviation Corporation's 15 plants because of a "collapse" of negotiations.

Bendix officials denied there had been a breakdown in negotiations.
Such a strike would affect divisions of the company in South Bend, Ind.; Norwood, Mass.; El-
mira, N. Y.; North Hollywood, Calif.; and Detroit and Owasco, Mich. The union claimed to represent from 12,000 to 15,000 Bendix workers, but the company said only 8,000 of its 20,000 workers were involved in the dispute.

German Children Better Fed Than Britain's
Berlin, Feb. 16 (AP)—Mrs.
Eleanor Roosevelt said today that German children on the whole looked in "fair condition—better than those in Great Britain."

She emphasized that at a press conference that this was only her "impression" because she had been in Germany only three days. She arrived from Frankfurt this morning in a U. S. Army transport plane.

Mrs. Roosevelt said she had seen no starvation, though there "is possibly hunger."

Celebrates 100th Birthday

St. Valentine's Day this year marked the 100th birthday for Mrs. Herman Peters of Elm street, Saugerties. She was guest of honor at a party and many of the townspeople called and presented her with flowers, gifts and money.

Mrs. Peters, like her mother who was 96 when she died, lived to see five generations of her family. Of her nine children five are still living: Harry, Herman and Fred Peters of Saugerties; Edward Peters of Cairo and Mrs. Eva Ter-williger of Saugerties, with whom she makes her home. She also has seven grandchildren; 11 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Born in Germany, Mrs. Peters came to this country at the age of seven and has spent most of her life in Saugerties. She is a member of the Lutheran Church of the Atonement, Saugerties.

Horticulturists Express Thanks for Hospitality

Mayor W. F. Edelmuth yesterday received a letter from Thomas E. LaMont, associate secretary of the New York State Horticultural Society, enclosing a copy of a resolution adopted by the society at the meeting held in Kingston recently.

The resolution expressed the thanks of the association for the hospitality extended at the "most successful meeting the society has ever held."

Mrs. Carlan Goes Free
Boston, Feb. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Rose Carlan, 23, of Chelsea, was freed of a charge of manslaughter today in the death of her six months old son, Ronald, who was the central figure in New England's greatest kidnap hoax last November.

Temperatures in Kingston yesterday ranged from a high of 32 degrees before the snow began falling to a low of 11 at midnight. The day seemed much colder as a biting, cold wind swept through the streets throughout the day.

The cold wave still gripped the city this morning, and at 8:30 o'clock the thermometer was recording 12 degrees.

Ulster Lumber Mills Help Reduce Housing Shortage

Stone Ridge Lumberman Leads Newly Revived, Thriving Industry in This Area

A local industry which contributed much to the war effort and now is doing a most important job in the post-war era, is the lumber business. Little is heard of the industry and few people realize the extent of this business locally. All through the war many men were engaged in logging operations and now in the post-war period these men are still doing a good job to bring to the people building materials which may be used in relieving the critical housing shortage.

Locally there are several firms engaged in the logging business, and although Ulster county's virgin timber has long since been depleted, there still remains many thousands of acres of new growth timber which is ready for logging operations.

Several firms are engaged in cutting this timber and saving it in local mills for local use. The lumbering business in Ulster county seems to have been revived in the past few years with a number of mills now operating.

Bradley Rejects Legion Invitation For VA Conference

Administrator Asserts He Will Not Submit to Trial by Any One Group of Vets

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—Gen. Omar Bradley said today he rejected invitations to a meeting of the American Legions executive committee because he did not think he "should be put on trial by any one group."

The Veterans Administrator told of the rejection at a news conference called to discuss the V.A.'s $448,000,000 hospital building program which he described as "the most gigantic" in history.

The Legion committee will meet tomorrow in Indianapolis to study Commander John Stelle's demands for a congressional investigation of what he calls a "tragic breakdown" in the V.A.

Bradley reiterated at his news conference that he did not believe Stelle's criticism represented "objections by the Legion as a whole."

He told reporters, in reviewing aid to sick and wounded war veterans, that V.A. is now operating 98 hospitals with a capacity of 83,339 and completion of the $448,000,000 program will push the number to 183 with a capacity of 151,500.

Stelle Still Admired

Indianapolis, Feb. 16 (AP)—Commander John Stelle of the American Legion plans to tell his executive committee tomorrow why he thinks the hornet's nest he stirred up by an attack on the Veterans Administration should be prodded again now and—once a month thereafter.

The committee, the Legion's policy-making body between conventions, will meet in special session for only the fifth time since the first World War.

Stelle called the meeting after his demands for a congressional investigation of what he called a "tragic breakdown" in the Veterans Administration brought a sharp report from Gen. Omar N. Bradley, V.A. Administrator, that he doubted Stelle's views were those of the Legion.

The Legion commander not only will seek the committee's approval but he also will ask it to set up a program in which each of the 2,200,000 Legionnaires would be a watchdog for VA mistakes or delays.

Nellie A. Jones, A. C. Hill Arrested

Woman Is Apprehended for Reckless Driving in Police Chase

Mrs. Nellie A. Jones, 27, of Route 2, West Saugerties, was arrested Friday afternoon by Officer Lemuel Howard, who charged her with reckless driving. Abram C. Hill, 30, of Route 1, Saugerties, riding with her, was arrested on charges of disorderly conduct and failing to produce his chauffeur's or operator's license on the demand of an officer.

Both furnished bail for their appearance later in police court. According to the arresting officer the woman was cutting in and out of traffic and driving from one side of the street to the other. The two police officers, Howard and Wesley Cramer, in one of the radio cars overtook her on North Front street when she was placed under arrest.

Officer Howard alleged that when he arrested Mrs. Jones, that Hill used profane and indecent language, and refused to comply with the officer's request to produce his driving license.

Eight Kingstonians Get Treasury Medals

Eight medals awarded to Kingston residents by the U. S. Treasury Department for services rendered during the war years in the various Victory Loan drives staged in the city, were distributed to a meeting held in the office of Mayor W. F. Edelmuth on Friday.

The mayor, acting in behalf of the Treasury Department, awarded the medals. One of the medals was awarded to the mayor and others who were presented with the medals were Mrs. Howard Lewis, Mrs. Culver TenBroeck, Robert Case, Louis Stekete, Mrs. Julia Leaycraft, Alderman Victor H. Roth and Walter Donnaruma.

Persons Still Employed

"The persons involved include some now employed or who have been employed in a number of departments and agencies of the government."

"It is the intention of the government that, after the report of the royal commissioners has been received, prosecution will be instituted in cases in which the evidence warrants it. It would not be proper at this stage to make a more complete statement or in settlement of long strike."

George Holstein Is Found Dead on Deck of Tugboat

Cerebral Hemorrhage Is Given as Cause of Death to Cornell Watchman

George Holstein, 61, of 56 German street, employed as a watchman on the fleet of old tugs of the Cornell Steamboat Co., berthed on the Sleighsborough side of the Rondout creek, was found lying dead on the deck of one of the tugs early this morning.

Coroner Ernest A. Kelly was notified and made an investigation. The coroner said that death was due to cerebral hemorrhage, that Mr. Holstein had punched the time clock at 5 a. m. this morning, and had evidently been fatally stricken shortly afterward.

When found he was lying face down on the deck. Dr. George W. Ross of Port Jervis, who was called by Coroner Kelly, pronounced Holstein dead. The body was turned over to Undertaker James M. Murphy.

Holstein, who works from midnight until 8 a. m. each day, was found dead by Harry Van Vliet, who was to relieve him as watchman at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Van Vliet notified Superintendent William J. Whiston of the Cornell Steamboat Co., who called the sheriff's office at 7:20 o'clock. Deputy Sheriffs Leonard Belmont and Theron Townsend investigated.

Funeral Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home.

Subdue Big Fire

Manchester, N. H., Feb. 16 (AP)—After a night-long battle in zero temperature, firemen extinguished early today a spectacular blaze that wrecked three business buildings near the center of the shopping district. Damage was estimated unofficially at $500,000.

Firemen said the flames apparently originated in a four-story brick structure slightly north of the business section of the shopping area; leaped north to a three-story wooden building and lanced south into a four-story establishment.

Strikes at a Glance

(By The Associated Press)
Approximately 1,430,000 idle because of nation's labor disputes. Major developments:

Steel—U. S. Steel Corporation and C.I.O. United Steelworkers reach agreement on wage issue, 26-day strike ends for 130,000 of 750,000 C.I.O. steelworkers; negotiations with rest of industry starts today, with predictions of early settlement; big steel settles on basis of 18½ cents average hourly wage increase, with corporation getting $5 a ton increase in steel prices.

Automotive—C.I.O. United Auto Workers leaders hail U. S. Steel settlement as factor which might hasten end of its wage dispute with General Motors which has made idle 175,000 workers in G.M. plants since November 21; top company and union officials resume discussions with federal mediator, who predicts meeting "could" end in settlement of long strike.

Aviation—C.I.O.-U.A.W. in Detroit announce strike action considered in six of Bendix Aviation Corporation's 15 plants after it said wage negotiations broke down, union, seeking 30 per cent pay hike, claims to represent from 12,000 to 15,000 workers; company says only 8,000 of its 20,000 workers involved in dispute.

Three Are Injured In Car Crashes in Kingston Friday

Two men were hospitalized, while another man suffered a nose injury, in four automobile accidents in Kingston on Friday, according to reports filed with the police department that day.

The two men who were removed to hospitals were Jay Humphrey of 370 South Wall street, and Thomas Lahey of 70 Hurley avenue, who was riding with him.

At the intersection of Foxhall and Flatbush avenues the Humphrey car crashed into a telephone pole at 7:55 o'clock last night. Humphrey was conveyed to the Benedictine Hospital suffering from chest injuries and an injured leg; while Lahey was removed to the Kingston Hospital for treatment for injuries to his left knee and right shoulder.

The city's fire alarm system in that area was also damaged as the auto crashed into the pole.

Two Trucks Collide

The first auto accident occurred at 8:40 o'clock during the early morning snow storm when a milk truck driven by Richard Boice was in collision with a truck owned by Messina & Briante of Port Chester, operated by Salvatore Silco of the same place. As the two machines collided the milk truck was forced into the fire hydrant at the corner of Broadway and Abies street. The hydrant was damaged, and before the water was shut off the street was flooded. No personal injuries were reported.

A second collision on Abies street occurred at 1:15 o'clock Friday afternoon when automobiles driven by John J. Emmick of 11 Crane street, and Joseph Barton of Port Jervis, crashed. Both cars were damaged, but no one injured.

Not All Men Will Work Right Away

May Take 30 Days Until Entire Force Is Back on Their Jobs in 27 States

26-Day Shutdown

Employees Depending on Basic Steel Will Be Idle at Least 5 Weeks

Pittsburgh, Feb. 16 (AP)—For approximately 750,000 C.I.O.-United Steelworkers in 27 states the great steel strike of 1946 is over.

Not all the workers, however, will return to their jobs immediately. Some of them in semi-finished products and fabrication plants, which depend on basic steel mills for their materials may have to wait four or five weeks.

Even in basic steel, except for U. S. Steel Corp., whose contract already is signed, there will be additional delays while separate agreements are being negotiated.

A spokesman for U. S. Steel said most of the corporation's employees should be back to work by the end of next week but that it likely will be 30 days before full production is achieved.

He cited the situation in the corporation's three subsidiaries employing some 70,000 men in the Pittsburgh area—Carnegie-Illinois, National Tube and American Steel & Wire.

First persons to be called, the spokesman said, will be maintenance and blast furnace crews in the mills themselves. In the coke works—at Clairton, Pa.—crews will begin charging the ovens and the first molten steel is poured from the open hearths.

By the end of the seventh day, the spokesman predicted, the first steel will have been rolled and ready to ship.

Meanwhile, there probably will be repairs necessary on some of the furnaces—blast and open hearth—due to the 26-day shutdown. This is why it may take a month to build up to pre-strike production.

Officially the U. S. Steel strike will end at 12:01 a. m., Monday, Feb. 18—it began at the same hour on January 21.

The settlement climaxed two weeks of secret negotiations in the U. S. Steel's suite at the Carlton Hotel, three blocks from the White House.

Reports that the long battle was over circulated all day in the capital, but it was not until 10 p. m. that the awaited announcement came.

"Gentlemen," Reconversion Director J. W. Snyder told newsmen, "it gives me real pleasure on behalf of the Snyder team to announce settlement of the steel strike."

Snyder was flanked by Secretary of Labor Schweikert, Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman, together with company and union officials as he broke the news.

Vice President John A. Stephens, in charge of industrial relations for U. S. Steel, followed up with the announcement that work would be resumed Monday with no discrimination against any striker for their activities in the stoppage. Stephens, together with Roger M. Blough, the corporation's general counsel, handled the final stages of the negotiations for the company.

Settlement for Year

"The settlement agreement was for a period of one year, expiring February 15, 1947."

U. S. Steel's President Benjamin F. Fairless said the wage increase will amount to approximately $32 per employee for each full month of work, and described the most as the largest in the industry's history.

The full new pay rates will be effective Monday. On the retroactive pay issue, which stalled the agreement at the last moment earlier this week, the corporation and union agreed to split the difference. Workers will receive an average of 9½ cents an hour increase for the period between January 1 and January 21, when the strike began. The union originally sought to have the full increase.

Steel Strike Over for 750,000 Workers; Dewey Sure G. M. Turmoil Can End Soon

Company And Union In Huddle

Bosses, Auto Workers

Be One Snag to an Immediate Start

Detroit, Feb. 16 (AP)—Special
mediator James F. Dewey today
called top officials of General Motors Corp. and the C.I.O. United Auto Workers back into a huddle,
which, he predicted, "could" end
in a settlement of the 88-day G.M.
strike.

For the second straight day
headed by President C. E. Wilson and the union delegation was led by President R. J. Thomas. Dewey

Although the U. S. Steel Corp.
strike settlement was largely discounted by the special mediator
as an important influence on the G.M. dispute, union leaders hailed
it as a factor which would hasten
an agreement.

Steel Has Bearing
The steel settlement, Thomas
said, "should mean the wage disputes in the industries dependent upon steel should be settled more
rapidly and will mean early full

ment."
Walter P. Reuther, U.A.W.
C.I.O. vice president and G.M.
strike leader, declined comment on the union spokesman pointed to Reuther's statement of several
steel strike is settled."

Thomas said there was "very glad that Philip Murray has been able to settle the steel strike." He added, however, "it is very doubtful if our settlement with G.M.
will come this week-end," because
of a number of non-wage issues
still to be worked out.

tached by some observers to the fact that for the first time since he entered the dispute two weeks ago Dewey plans to stay in Detroit beyond the week-end. The mediator said "night and day sessions—Sunday included" would
be held if necessary.

Thomas said there was "nothing in the report" that the union would agree to an 18 1/2 cents an hour (10.5 per cent) increase for the 175,000 striking G.M. workers, providing other issues were worked out satisfactorily. The U.A.W. turned down such a G.M.
offer Tuesday, demanding at least 19 1/2 cents (17.5 per cent) as recommended by a presidential fact-finding board.

Paved the Way
Automotive competitors of General Motors looked to the agreement with U. S. Steel as a means of paving the way for full production.

The Ford Motor Co., its assembly lines in most plants closed for several weeks by a steel shortage,
said it hoped to resume normal operations within two weeks.

As the labor picture brightened
on several fronts, however, the U.A.W.-C.I.O. announced it was considering strike action in six of Bendix Aviation Corporation's 15 plants because of a "collapse" of negotiations.

Bank officials denied there had been a breakdown in negotiations.
Such a strike would affect divisions of the company in South Bend, Ind.; Norwood, Mass.; El-
mira, N. Y.; North Hollywood, Calif.; and Detroit and Oshkosh, Wis. The union claimed to represent from 12,000 to 15,000 Bendix workers, but the company said only 20,000 workers were employed in the dispute.

During the early morning hours today it grew much colder and at

While the official thermometer was recording close to zero temperatures some thermometers in other sections of the city registered as low as zero.

Temperatures in Kingston yesterday ranged from a high of 32 degrees before the snow began falling to a low of 11 at midnight. The day seemed much colder as a biting cold wind swept through the streets throughout the day.
The cold wave still gripped the city this morning and at 8:30

Bradley Rejects Legion Invitation For VA Conference

Administrator Asserts He Will Not Submit to Trial by Any One Group of Vets

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—Gen.
Omar Bradley said today he rejected invitations to a meeting of the American Legion's executive committee because he did not think he "should be put on trial by any one group."

The Veterans Administrator told of the rejection at a news conference called to discuss the V.A.'s $448,000,000 hospital building program which he described as "the most gigantic" in his history.

The Legion committee will meet tomorrow in Indianapolis to study Commander John Stille's demands for a congressional investigation of what he calls a "tragic breakdown" in the V.A.

Bradley reiterated at his news conference that he did not believe Stille's criticism represented "objections by the Legion as a

He told reporters, in reviewing aid to sick and wounded war veterans, that V.A. is now operating 98 hospitals with a capacity of 83,339 and completion of the $448,000,000 program will push the number to 183 with a capacity of 151,500.

Stille Still adamant Indianapolis, Feb. 16 (AP)—Commander John Stille of the American Legion plans to tell his executive committee tomorrow why he thinks the hornet's nest he stirred up by an attack on the Veterans Administration should be prodded again now—and once a month hereafter.

The committee, the Legion's policy-making body between conventions, will meet in special session for only the fifth time since the first World War.

Stille called the meeting after his demands for a congressional investigation of what he called a "tragic breakdown" in the Veterans Administration brought a sharp rebuff from Gen. Omar N.
Bradley, V.A. Administrator, that he doubted Stille's views were those of the Legion.

The Legion commander not only will seek the committee's approval but he also will ask it to set up a program in which each of the 2,200,000 Legionnaires would be a watchdog for VA mistakes or delays.

Royal Mounted Police

Net 22 Suspects; 12 Definite to Face Charges

By HARRY T. MONTGOMERY

Ottawa, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Canadian government moved swiftly today to plug a leak of "secret and confidential information" which an authoritative source said involved handing over atomic secrets.

The disclosure of the move came last night after the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, striking suddenly, had rounded up 22 employees and former employees of Canadian government departments and agencies.

Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King announced the appointment of two royal commissioners to lead a thorough investigation and promised the government would institute prosecution "in cases in which the evidence warrants it."

In his announcement, the Prime Minister mentioned neither atomic energy nor Russia, but authoritative sources, which cannot be named, said both were concerned.

Long Investigation
The investigation has been going on undercover since shortly after the war ended, informed quarters said, and the Prime Minister was required to have discussed the leak with President Truman in Washington last fall during their talks on atomic energy.

The atomic bomb was developed through the combined efforts of United States, British and Canadian scientists, and therefore a number of Canadians are familiar with the atomic secrets.

Some of the 22 men rounded up by the police were known to have been employed by the National Research Council, government agency through which atomic energy information has been channeled. Officials said they were certain they could place serious charges against at least 12 of the men.

Grave Situation
Progressive Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker, commenting to the government for its action, described the situation as one of "grave concern." The Prime Minister's statement, he said, "will come as a great surprise to the Canadian people."

Mackenzie King said that Mr.
J. R. Ross, Treasurer and Mr.
Charles R. L. Bell, Chief of the Superior Court of Canada had been placed in charge of the investigation.

Information of unidentified authorities, the Prime Minister said in his announcement, "has been obtained from a number of persons who have been in contact with the government."

Persons Still Employed
The persons involved include some who are employed or who have been employed in a number of departments and have been in contact with the government.

"The intention of the government is to bring the names of the persons involved to the public in order that they may be able to identify them and if they would be willing to do so, they may make a more complete statement or information."

George Holstein

Is Found Dead on Deck of Tugboat

Cerebral Hemorrhage Is Given as Cause of Death to Cornell
Watchman

George Holstein, 61, of 56 German street, employed as a watchman on the fleet of old tugs of the Cornell Steamboat Co., berthed on the Sleighsborough side of the Rondout creek, was found lying dead on the deck of one of the tugs early this morning.

Coroner Ernest A. Kelly was notified and made an investigation. The coroner said that death was due to cerebral hemorrhage, that Mr. Holstein had punched the time clock at 5 a. m. this morning, and had evidently been fati-gued shortly afterward.

When found he was lying face down on the deck.

De. George W. Ross of Port Jervis, who was called by Coroner
Kelly, pronounced Holstein dead.

The body was turned over to Undertaker James M. Murphy.
Holstein, who works from midnight until 8 a. m. each day, was found dead by Harry Van Vleet, who was to relieve him as watchman at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Van Vleet notified Superintendent William J. Whiston of the Cornell Steamboat Co., who called the sheriff's office at 7:20 o'clock.
Deputy Sheriffs Leonard Belmont and Theron Townsend investigated.

Funeral Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home.

Subdue Big Fire

Manchester, N. H., Feb. 16 (AP)—
After a night-long battle in zero temperature, firemen extinguished early today a spectacular blaze that wrecked three business buildings near the center of the shopping district. Damage was estimated unofficially at $500,000.
Firemen said the flames apparently originated in a four-story brick structure slightly north of the business section of the shopping area; leaping north to a three-story wooden building and lanced south into a four-story establishment.

Caught Under Bridge
The third accident was at 6:15 o'clock last night when a truck

Three Are Injured

In Car Crashes in Kingston Friday

Jay Humphrey, Thomas
Lahay Hospital Patients; Fire Alarm System
Is Damaged

Two men were hospitalized, while another man suffered a nose injury, in four automobile accidents in Kingston on Friday, according to reports filed with the police department that day.

The two men who were removed to hospitals were Jay Humphrey of 370 South Wall street, and Thomas Lahay of 70 Hurley avenue, who was riding with him.

At the intersection of Foxhall and Flatbush avenues the Humphrey car crashed into a telephone pole at 7:55 o'clock last night.

Humphrey was conveyed to the Benedictine Hospital suffering from chest injuries and an injured leg; while Lahay was removed to the Kingston Hospital for treatment for injuries to his left knee and right shoulder.

The city's fire alarm system in that area was also damaged as the auto crashed into the pole.

Two Trucks Collide

The first auto accident occurred at 8:40 o'clock during the early morning snow storm when a milk truck driven by Richard Boice was in collision with a truck owned by Messina & Brante of Port-chester, operated by Salvatore Silco of the same place. As the two machines collided the milk truck was forced into the fire hydrant at the corner of Broadway and Abel street. The hydrant was damaged, and before the water was shut off the street was flooded. No personal injuries were reported.

A second collision on Abel street occurred at 1:15 o'clock Friday afternoon when automobiles driven by John J. Emmick of 15 Clinton street, and Joseph Mason of Port Jervis, crashed. Both cars were damaged, but no one injured.

Strikes at a Glance
(By The Associated Press)
Approximately 1,430,000 idle because of nation's labor disputes.
Major developments:
Steel—U. S. Steel Corporation and C.I.O. United Steelworkers reach agreement on wage issue, 26-day strike ends for 130,000 of 750,000 C.I.O. steelworkers; negotiations with rest of industry starts today, with predictions of early settlement; big steel settles on basis of 18 1/2 cents average hourly wage increase, with corporation getting 55 a ton increase in steel prices.
Automotive—C.I.O. United Auto Workers leaders hail U. S.
Steel settlement as factor which might hasten end of its wage dispute with General Motors which has made idle 175,000 workers in G.M. plants since November 21; top company and union officials resume discussions with federal mediator, who predicts meeting "could" end in settlement of long strike.
Aviation—C.I.O.-U.A.W. in Detroit announce strike action considered in six of Bendix Aviation Corporation's 15 plants after it said wage negotiations broke down, union seeking 30 per cent pay hike, claims to represent from 12,000 to 15,000 workers; company says only 8,000 of its 20,000 workers involved in dispute.

May Take 30 Days Until Entire Force Is Back on Their Jobs in 27 States

26-Day Shutdown

Employees Depending on Basic Steel Will Be Idle at Least 5 Weeks

Pittsburgh, Feb. 16 (AP)—For approximately 750,000 C.I.O.-United Steelworkers in 27 states the great steel strike of 1946 is over.

Not all the workers, however, will return to their jobs immediately. Some of them in semi-finished products and fabrication plants, which depend on basic steel mills for their materials may have to wait four or five weeks.

Even in basic steel, except for U. S. Steel Corp., whose contract already is signed, there will be additional delays while separate agreements are being negotiated.

A spokesman for U. S. Steel said most of the corporation's employees should be back to work by the end of next week but that it likely will be 30 days before full production is achieved.

He cited the situation in the corporation's three subsidiaries employing some 50,000 men in the Pittsburgh area—Carnegie-Illinois, National Tube and American Steel and Wire.

First persons to be called, the spokesman said, will be maintenance and blast furnace crews in the mills themselves. In the coke works—at Clairton, Pa.—crews will begin cleaning the ovens and the first coke will come out in two or three days—by Wednesday night, at the latest.

It will be about four days before the first usable pig iron comes out of the blast furnaces and perhaps a day more before the first molten steel is poured from the open hearths.

By the end of the seventh day, the spokesman predicted, the first steel mill will have been rolled and ready to ship.

Meanwhile, there probably will be repairs necessary on some of the furnaces—blast and open hearth—due to the 26-day shutdown. This is why it may take a month to build up to pre-strike production.

Officially the U. S. Steel strike will end at 12:01 a. m. Monday, Feb. 18, it began at the same hour on January 21.

The settlement climaxed two weeks of secret negotiations in the U. S. Steel's suite at the Carlton Hotel, three blocks from the White House.

Reports that the long battle was over circulated all day in the capital, but it was not until 10
p. m. that the awaited announcement came.

"Gentlemen," Reconversion Director J. W. Snyder told newsmen,
"it gives me real pleasure on behalf of the President to announce settlement of the steel strike."

Snyder was backed by Secretary of Labor, Schweikendach, and other officials.

Stimulus, together with company and union officials, as he broke the news.

Vice President John A. Stephens, in charge of industrial relations for U. S. Steel, followed up with the announcement that work would resume Monday with no discrimination against any strikers for their activities in the strike. Strikers, together with Roger M. Blough, the corporation's general counsel, headed the steel strike of the negotiations for the company.

Settlement for Year
The settlement agreement was for a period of one year, expiring
February 15, 1947.

U. S. Steel's President Benjamin
F. Fairless, said the increase will amount to approximately 50 cents a ton, or about 10 per cent of work cost, and will be based on the increase in the industry's history.

The full settlement will be subject to ratification by the representatives of the workers, and will be subject to the government approval of the settlement.

As the workers will receive an average of 18 1/2 cents an hour increase, the steel industry, which has been hit hard by the full increase in steel prices, will be

9-Point Demands Bare Manchurian Split With Reds

Anti-Soviet Guild Calls for Immediate Removal Russian Troops From Territory

By SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, Feb. 16 (AP)—Chungking witnessed its first demonstration against the Russians to day as the turbulent Manchurian situation reached a boiling point, and China was given American support in a request to move more troops into that vast area.

Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, U. S. Commander in China, told a press conference that General Marshall approved the request to move more Chinese troops into Manchuria. He did not elaborate.

Two hours later a Chinese Communist spokesman charged that government forces, preparing to seize Yingchow, important port, and five other Manchurian towns, had clashed with Communists. He said the Communists had withdrawn from Panshan and Taitan "to avoid aggravating the conflict."

"It was not immediately clear why the reported fight for Yingchow, from which the Communists withdrew on January 30 they had withdrawn after having wrested it from government troops."

Make Nine Demands
Almost simultaneously, 460 members of the Manchurian Guild marched through Chungking streets to government headquarters and presented nine demands. It was the first public demonstration ever seen here against the Russians.

The paraders carried banners inscribed "we demand withdrawal of Soviet troops from Manchuria."

"Soviet forces are reported preparing to remain in Manchuria until June 1, although they had been scheduled to turn over administration of the territory on February 1. However, the Yalta Agreement gives Russia joint control with China of two railroads in Manchuria, there are unofficial reports that the Russians have made economic demands upon China. Chiang Kai-Shek said yesterday that Sino-Soviet discussions are in progress, but did not elaborate."

Demands Listed
The Manchurian Guild demanded:
That the Russians respect the Sino-Soviet Treaty.
That the Russians withdraw troops from Manchuria.
Guarantees against recurrence of incidents such as the assassination of Chang Hsin-Gu (special commissioner in Manchuria of the Ministry of Economic Affairs who was killed January 16).
The return of war booty seized by the Russians in Manchuria.
(There have been rumors of such seizures, but no official report.)
Reparation for our losses. (Unspecified.)

Punishment of Gen. Hsing Shih-Hui (Director of Chiang's headquarters in Manchuria) for failure of his mission (restoration of Chinese sovereignty in Manchuria).
Speeding up of the taking over process in Manchuria.

Respect for Chinese sovereignty.
That Sino-Russian negotiations be made public.

increase made retroactive to New Year's Day.
May Have to Pay More
Prior to the steel settlement, Chester Bowles indicated the public may have to pay more for consumer metal products as a result of the government's new wage-price policy.

Meeting reporters for the first time as stabilization director, Bowles said he didn't know yet what the effect would be on specific products, like refrigerators, washing machines and automobiles.

But he did say prices of metal goods in general might have to be increased. He added, however, that these items account for only about nine per cent of the cost of living, and that he was confident the revision policy would have no appreciable effect on prices of food and clothing, or on rents.

Bowles was echoing President Truman's views, for the chief executive said at his news conference yesterday:

"This is not a new line. It is a bulge in the old line. You've heard of a bulge in the military sense. If everybody cooperates there will be no break-through."

The amended policy provides for immediate price help to offset federally approved wage increases. In general, it allows price hikes sufficient to assure 1936-39 profits.

GLS Win Fellowship
Princeton, N. J., Feb. 16 (AP)—Dr. Harold W. Dodds, president of Princeton University, announced today that Laurence Barret of Katonah, N. Y., and eight other members of the Graduate Leadership Society (GLS) had been awarded Woodrow Wilson Fellowships for advanced work in studying for the academic profession. The men, all ex-servicemen, will begin their program of study at the graduate college March 1. The fellowships, allocated by the university's trustees, range in amount from $500 to $1,000, according to the individual's need and ability.

Going to School Easy To Take This Time

Stafford, Conn., Feb. 16 (AP)—John Kology, Stafford World War 2 veteran, is going back to school—not for knowledge but to get a roof over his head.

Stafford, like most places, has a housing shortage. Kology bought the Orcuttville school, abandoned for six years, from the town and plans to remodel it into a six-room dwelling. His wife learned her ABC's in the school when a child.

Local Death Record

Funeral services for Mrs. Lillian Fischer were held at the Jensen and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Rev. Russell S. Gaenzle, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, was in charge of the services. There were many beautiful floral pieces. Bearers were Albert and John Schuster, Fred Keener and Charles Fischer. Burial was in the family plot in Montrose cemetery and the Rev. Mr. Gaenzle officiated.

Funeral services for Anna W. Gill were held at the late residence 61 Gill street Thursday afternoon. The Rev. Robert E. O'Mahoney, pastor of the Roundout Presbyterian church, conducted the services at the home and also gave the committal at the grave in the family plot in Montrose cemetery. The services were largely attended and there were numerous floral tributes.

The funeral of Captain Russell Saulpaugh, a boatman on the Hudson River for more than 50 years, was held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Jensen and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street. The Rev. Arthur S. Cole, and the Rev. Edward W. Winder, pastor of the First Baptist Church, conducted the services. Among the hundreds who called at the chapel was a large delegation of Past Noble Grand, Colonial Rebekah Lodge 48, who paid respect to Mrs. Saulpaugh, a past district officer. Burial was in the family plot in Montrose cemetery, where the Rev. Mr. Winder and the Rev. Mr. Cole assisted in the services at the grave.

Thomas A. Amato died suddenly Friday at his home, 1528 Third avenue, Schenectady, a former resident of Kingston, he was foreman in the U. S. Government Depot in Schenectady. Surviving are his wife, Agnes Demskie Amato; a daughter, Jacqueline; a son, Joseph A., his mother, Mrs. Settimio Amato, five brothers, Frank, James, Peter, Joseph and Anthony, and one sister, Mrs. Michael Quarantone. While in Kingston, he was a member of the Church of the Immaculate Conception and the Holy Name Society of that church. Funeral services will be held from the home of his father-in-law, Andrew Demskie, 112 First avenue, on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock and at the Church of the Immaculate Conception at 9:30, where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Burial will be in the family plot in Mt. Calvary cemetery. Friends may call at the home any time Sunday afternoon.

Informed quarters expressed the belief that the government would announce soon the name of the foreign country involved so that the missions of other countries might not be embarrassed. Available officials at the Soviet embassy said they did not wish to comment.

Mackenzie King said some of those concerned in the leakage were "deeply and consciously involved," while some "will probably be found to be more or less innocent instruments in furthering activities much more serious than they may have imagined."

Black Market and Inflation Curbed By New Jap Decree
Tokyo, Feb. 16 (AP)—Under prodding of General MacArthur, the Japanese Government took its first drastic steps today to control the shaky economy of a beaten country plagued by inflation and black markets.

A public relations announcement from General MacArthur's headquarters underscored the action with this explanation:

"It was in response to dissatisfaction expressed by SCAP (Supreme Commander, Allied Powers) with the failure of the government to carry out provisions of its directives prescribing that suitable measures be taken to control inflation and to insure adequate distribution to the people of limited supplies of food, clothing and other necessities of life."

The new government regulations abruptly will limit legal income and rampant inflation. This undoubtedly will cause discomfort until prices decline in adjustment.

Individual Japanese will have limited salaries and restricted bank withdrawals, their only currency and consequently will be unable to meet high prices.

Col. H. S. Ruth, headquarters fiscal director, said American soldiers and civilians attached to the armed forces would not be affected by the economy, but would be obliged to convert their yen through Army fiscal offices.

Although the Japanese individual will be sharply curbed in the amounts of money he can possess, the new ordinances have elasticity to take care of such things as medical and hospital bills, funeral expenses and the costs of weddings up to 1,000 yen (slightly more than $86).

Mental Patients Freed By Hospital Strike
Kingston, Jamaica, Feb. 16 (AP)—Kingston was restored today following a roundup of more than 100 mental patients who escaped yesterday during a strike of employees of the city's mental hospital and around the streets looting stores and homes.

Police announced that all but 15 of the inmates were accounted for by last night, and that the situation was under control.

The fugitives, who were among 2,000 men and women inmates left to their own resources by the strike, had walked out of the hospital's open doors. Near panic swept the eastern end of this city as they began their looting.

Troops and special police assisted in rounding up the escapees, who were reported to have stoned regular police officers.

Approximately 280 attendants and nurses quit work yesterday morning after demanding the removal of Superintendent Dr. D. I. Cameron. They also are asking for better working hours and improved facilities.

New York Has Biggest Municipal Budget
New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—The greatest municipal budget in history—$916,600,516.33 asked by 109 New York city departments—has been submitted to Mayor William O'Dwyer.

This represents an increase of $153,029,812 over current operating expenses. Practically every city department sought added funds to correct "existing deficiencies in service."

The boost makes the budget—for the second straight year—second only to the federal budget.

Truman Emphatic About Appointing Of Edwin Pauley

Stage Set for Real Hot Fight in Senate by Those Opposed to His Choice

By JACK BELL

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—President Truman set the stage today for the Senate's toughest political battle since the 1937 Supreme Court fight by sticking uncompromisingly to his nomination of Edwin W. Pauley for Undersecretary of Navy.

Reluctant Senate Democrats saw a knock-down, drag-out job ahead, but Mr. Truman left them scant choice about taking sides after his emphatic declaration he expected Pauley to be confirmed.

In reading his complete confidence in Pauley, Mr. Truman turned aside inquiries yesterday about his political plans for 1947, remarking that the question was a little previous. It was reminiscent of the way President Roosevelt forestalled questions about his third and fourth term intentions.

The President likewise was noncommittal about the men he was considering in his search for a successor to Harold L. Ickes as Secretary of the Interior. The President's potential yield at his news conference yesterday was a remark that many legislators had recommended Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) for the job.

Intimating that new evidence may challenge Ickes' charges against Pauley, Mr. Truman predicted flatly that the California oil man will be confirmed. He added, however, that Navy Secretary Forrestal recommended the appointment, and that Mr. Roosevelt originally had intended to make it.

Forrestal quies issued a statement saying that when Mr. Roosevelt asked him to consider Pauley for the appointment, he replied he would prefer H. Struve Hensel, Assistant Secretary. Forrestal added he told Mr. Truman, after Mr. Roosevelt said that would be agreeable to the Pauley appointment.

Presumably, the new evidence on the nominee would deal with Ickes' assertions that Pauley suggested to him in 1944 that oil men might pay $200,000 for the Democratic campaign fund if the government did not press its suit to establish federal title to off-shore oil lands.

Mr. Truman's suggestion of new evidence was countered, however, by the economist who indicated they had fresh ammunition in their locker for use when the Senate Naval Committee resumes hearing on his nomination Monday.

Protest Immorality Among Indian WACS
Bombay, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Indian Nationalist weekly magazine "Blitz" published today a letter purportedly signed by 100 Indian WACS charging "unbelievable scandals" and asserting that they were "fitted for nothing except drinking, dancing, necking and fraternizing with officers and British of other ranks."

The letter appealed to the British Parliament and the Indian Central Legislative Assembly to investigate discrimination and immorality in the India Women's Auxiliary Corps.

"There have been cases of young girls sent out to meet and dance with British officers and men with non-Indian enlisted men," the letter said. "There have been cases of Indian girls being transported to distant places simply for the pleasure of an officers' party."

There have been cases without number of rape, venereal disease, suicide . . . those responsible (should be court martialled) for willfully leading astray a generation of young women in the name of the war effort, of loyalty and of emancipation of our sex."

The magazine said the signers first had planned a hunger strike, but that it had induced them first to try other means of forcing an inquiry.

Child Evangelism Talk At Church of Nazarene
Special emphasis will be placed on child evangelism at the special service to be held on Tuesday night at the Church of the Nazarene at 7:45 o'clock. The Rev. J. A. Spittal, of Preston, Ontario, who is noted for his work among the children, will be the speaker. He will use illustrative material that will be of interest to the young and the old. Accompanying the Rev. Mr. Spittal will be the Rev. E. E. Young, chairman of the District School Board and the Rev. L. E. Eckley, district superintendent.

The church is anxious to have all school children and their parents attend this service. The Spinnenweber will bring the children and take them home, to make it possible for as many as will to attend.

Informed quarters expressed the belief that the government would announce soon the name of the foreign country involved so that the missions of other countries might not be embarrassed. Available officials at the Soviet embassy said they did not wish to comment.

Mackenzie King said some of those concerned in the leakage were "deeply and consciously involved," while some "will probably be found to be more or less innocent instruments in furthering activities much more serious than they may have imagined."

Donkey Got His Tail And Mail Mixed Up
Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—House members are chuckling over the receipt by two Republican congressmen of invitations to the Democratic Party's Jackson Day fund-raising dinner.

Rep. Mundt (R-S. D.) read to the House an invitation signed with the name of Postmaster General Robert E. Hannegan, chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

"I says I can attend for $100," Mundt said. "I'm afraid I'll have to refuse."

"We Republicans had a fine dinner in the same hotel just recently and it only cost $5," Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich.), who also received an invitation, said. "Apparently the Democrats got their mailing list mixed up."

Russians Protest Polish Threat to Yugoslav Borders
Vishinsky Backs Demands That All Poles Be Withdrawn From That Area

B. JOHN A. PARRIS
London, Feb. 16 (AP)—Soviet Russia today placed before the United Nations Security Council the problem of Polish troops serving under British command in Italy, declaring that the presence of the Poles there was "a possible future threat to peace, calm and order on the Yugoslav frontier."

Representing Yugoslavia, which is not a member of the 11-nation council, Soviet Vice Commissar of Foreign Affairs Andrei Vishinsky filed with Secretary-General Trygve Lie a memorandum from the Yugoslav government declaring that the activities of the Polish Army were "hostile" to Yugoslavia.

The memorandum added that "extremely numerous propaganda publications issued by these units are aggressive and ostensibly threatening."

Vishinsky asked that the document be passed on to all members of the Security Council. Attached to it was a letter from Dr. Ales Bebler, Yugoslav Deputy Foreign Minister, who said the charges contained "facts which are of considerable gravity."

Follow Polish Note
The charges followed yesterday's long Polish note to Britain demanding immediate demobilization and return to Poland of 107,000 Polish troops of Gen. Wladyslaw Anders' Second Corps in Italy and approximately 90,000 other Polish troops under British command.

The British Foreign Office said the Polish note was brusque and that it was somewhat surprising to officials who had thought that the four-month repatriation talks with Poland were about to end successfully.

The memorandum charged that Anders' army had been moving closer to the Yugoslav frontier for several months, that it was expected to take part in the invasion of the northern coast of the Adriatic and that one detachment of about 700 Poles arrived in December at disputed Trieste, which Yugoslavia claims from Italy.

Warmer Weather Due In New York State
Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—Warmer weather came to New York state today as a frigid air mass moved off to the east following a two-day winter storm which caused at least five deaths and widespread damage.

Sunshine, marred only by occasional cloudiness and a few scattered snow flurries, was expected to raise temperatures over the state to between 25 and 30 degrees before nightfall.

The below zero temperatures reported overnight included Canton 11; Oneonta and Ticonderoga, 7; Glens Falls, Syracuse and Utica, 2; and Fort Plain, 1.

Other lows included Kanapka Creek, 2; Albany and Columbia, 3; Buffalo, Dansville and Elmira, 7; Binghamton and Newburgh, 8; Dunkirk 11, and New York city, 14.

The outlook for Sunday was for mostly cloudy weather with snow flurries for most of the state. Temperatures were expected to drop again somewhat in the western portion and warmer weather was predicted for eastern New York.

Snow flurries were reported today at Buffalo, Syracuse, Rochester and Albany, and were expected to move eastward out of the state by afternoon.

Ash Removals Increase During Month January
An increase in the number of truckloads of ashes and rubbish taken up by the street department during January was reported by Superintendent Ernest A. Steuding at the meeting of the Board of Public Works Friday afternoon.

Steuding reported that during December there had been 1,035 loads collected in the city, while last month the number had increased to 1,095.

The board held a brief open meeting yesterday, which was followed by a lengthy executive session in which various matters were discussed, including repair of the city's streets.

Alderman Eugene Cornwell sent in a communication read at the open meeting calling attention to the fact that he had been informed that the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. was planning to erect a new light pole on Pettit avenue. The communication was referred to the lighting committee.

R. J. McSpirt Purchases Uptown Building
Another real estate sale of considerable importance involving a business site on North Front street recently was consummated when Lillian Leventhal sold to Richard J. McSpirt of Hurley, the business building at 115-119 North Front street which has been occupied for some time by Mr. McSpirt. Mr. McSpirt conducts a garage and car sales business at that site under the name of Mac's Garage.

Included in the sale was the frame building on North Front street, several garages and houses at the rear of Converse street. Mr. McSpirt obtained title to the property through purchase of a contract of sale which had been entered into between Lillian Leventhal and Louis Ferraro of 34 Grand View avenue, Kingston.

County Veterans Take Advantage of G.I. Bill By Applying Now for Educational Benefits

That Ulster county veterans are taking advantage of the educational benefits of the G.I. Bill of Rights will be seen by the following list of young men and women who have made their applications through the Ulster County Service Agency during the month of January. The schools they have selected are listed but some may have changed their choices due to the overcrowding conditions in many of the colleges. Besides the list there were scores more who have filed their necessary papers to make them eligible for future enrollment.

In addition to those who are attending colleges and vocational schools, there are many who are taking advantage of the "On the Job" training programs in various factories and businesses. Under these programs the veteran receives the same subsistence allowances as if attending college.

Waldron D. Moore and Howard Sturges at the Ulster County Service Agency, 240 Fair Street are handling the educational, vocational and training applications of all veterans in Ulster county and their advice to all veterans is to call at the agency, have their discharges recorded and file the necessary forms establishing their eligibility for benefits even though they have not yet decided upon their school or training plans.

The list includes:

Joseph John Benjamin, Kingston, Rutgers University and Harvard Grad.

Raymond Max Saugerties, University of Michigan.

Raymond Henry Semon, Kingston, Syracuse University.

Jesse Laders, Kingston, Central Academy of Beauty Culture, Newburgh.

Bertram Wesley Burns, Kingston, Hamilton College.

Herbert B. Wyndham, Jr., New Paltz, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Donald James Bowra, Saugerties, Clarkson College of Technology.

Philip L. Messina, Highland, Fordham University.

Herbert P. LeFevre, New Paltz, Cornell University.

Lewis Burton Ocker, Allabon, Roosevelt Aviation School.

Roger Wallace Mabie, Port Jervis, Harvard Business College.

Ernest Abram Friedell, Kingston, New York University.

Maurice Burgher, Kingston, Cornell University.

Hugh W. Clark, Kingston, Veterans Vocational School.

George H. Silkworth, Stone Ridge, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Archie Robinson, Kingston, Hempstead College.

Emanuel J. Kunst, Kingston, Rider College.

Bernard E. McCutchen, West Camp, DeForest Training, Inc.

Donald J. Bechert, Saugerties, Siena College.

Harold M. Vandervoort, New Paltz, Union University.

Henry G. Zellner, Kingston, Juilliard School of Music.

Richard P. Dowd, Jr., Highland, New Paltz State Normal.

Ralph Nelson Marries Angeline E. Forte

The wedding of Miss Angeline L. Forte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Machileo Forte, 12 Devo Street, to Ralph E. Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Nelson of Eufaula, Okla., took place Sunday at 12:30 p. m. in St. Mary's Church. The Rev. John Drew officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Theodore Riccobono was organist for the wedding and Maria Patricia Keefe sang "We Marry This." Mr. Forte gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of ivory white satin made with scalloped neckline, and full net skirt. Her finger tip veil was attached to a Marie Antoinette head piece. She carried white roses and lilies. Miss Terry Forte, as maid of honor for her sister, wore a gown of pink tulle with full sleeves, and shirred bodice. She carried pink roses and lilies. The brides mother wore a gay print dress with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

A reception for 50 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents, toward Mr. and Mrs. Nelson left for a visit to the bridegroom's family in Eufaula, then to Corpus Christi, Tex., to visit Michael Forte, seaman first class, brother of the bride, who is attending radar school there. After traveling the bride chose an aqua suit trimmed with silver sequins; three-quarter length black coat with brocade trim; white hat with black sequins, black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Nelson is a graduate of Kingston High School and has been employed by Byrne-Ross. Mr. Nelson was discharged from the army January 23 at Fort Leven-

Planned Parenthood Group Hears Reports of Conference

A meeting of the Ulster County Committee for Planned Parenthood was held at the home of Mrs. Henry J. Wood, chairman, in Hurley, Thursday afternoon.

The 25th annual conference of the Planned Parenthood of America was held at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York city in January. Reports of the meeting were given by Mrs. Holly Carline, Mrs. Henry J. Wood, and Mrs. Louis Keger, Jr. The theme of the conference was "The Challenge of Today's Children."

According to the reports the Planned Parenthood Federation in 1945 aims at three well defined objectives:

"To continue on a community basis to spread information on planned families.

Dr. Leona Baumgartner, director of Child Hygiene Division, Department of Health City of New York, was a speaker. She chose as her topic "Health Hazards Facing the World's Children." After discussing some of the sobering conditions in which she found children during her recent inspection tour through France and England, she declared, "We in America, must face the fact that it is extremely important to us what happens to the health and education of these children, because they are the children with whom our children will have to keep the peace of the world."

Deploring the lack of expert medical aid for the one in ten married couples who find themselves childless, Dr. John Rock, noted Harvard scientist and director of the Fertility, Endocrine and Rhythm Clinic at the Free Hospital for Women, Brookline, Mass., recommended that "public demand" be made evident so that adequate services may be provided.

Dr. Rock's talk on "What We Know of Infertility and Its Corrections" by saying that every young couple should be taught their obligation to bring up children in their own interests as well as society.

Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ was the principal speaker at the closing dinner. He stated that planned parenthood as an expression of the Christian principle that affirms the sacredness of human personality has a large contribution to make to the future peace of the world.

The Lasker awards were presented to Dr. Robert Lauro, president of the country's leading gynecologist and obstetrician, for significant contribution to research in human fertility, and to Dr. Irl Cephas Riggan, Virginia's progressive state health commissioner for meritorious public health service. Dr. Riggan has led Virginia in becoming the seventh state in the union to make planned parenthood service available as part of the state's public health program of maternal care.

An interesting discussion followed the reading of the reports.

Mid-Winter Show Is Now in Exhibition At Rudolph Galleries

The Rudolph Galleries of Woodstock is holding a mid-winter Group Exhibition of paintings, watercolors, and sculpture by Woodstock artists. The artists have put some of their best canvases forward, resulting in a representative and interesting show, which Director Rudolph Frederick-Floie gathered together.

Outstanding in the exhibition is a new canvas by Lucile Blanch, titled "Flowers" inspired by her most accomplished examples from her own flower garden. Sigmund Menkes' "Still Life" will be remembered for its fugue-like rhythms and subtle variations. Marion Greenwood's "Mexican Easter" (Miss Greenwood was awarded the second prize last fall at the Carnegie Annual) is among the highlights to be seen at Stuart Street.

"Fishing Still Life" to be merited for its deep color. Henry Mattson's "Self Portrait" is of great interest self-portrait being Mr. Mattson's life story. There is, a fine landscape by Arnold Blanch. Mark Lukovic's "Rocks and Waterfall" is well composed and strong in colors. A sensitive canvas of "Quinces and Flowers" by Andre Rueland is there, as well as the beautifully painted and outstanding landscapes in watercolor by John W. Taylor.

An interesting head "Negro Girl" by Lillian Filiole shows insight and strong interpretation. Others are "Woman Bathing" by Anton Refregier and "Hurley Ave. Fire House," by Florence Ballin Cramer.

Among the other exhibitors are Marianne Appel, Rolin Crumpton, Peggy Dadds, Georgina Klitgaard, Doris Lee, Eugene Ludins, Margaret Lowengrund, Ethel and Jenne Magafan, Charles Rosen, Elizabeth Terrell and three pieces of sculpture by Hannah Small.

This show will be running March 15 in the winter exhibition room of the Rudolph Galleries.

Lt. R. C. Dumm Joins Sea Squatters Club

Lt. Richard C. Dumm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Dumm, 4 Mountain View Avenue, has been notified that he has been accepted to membership in the Sea Squatters Club. This club was organized originally by 10 charter members of whom Captain Edward V. Rickenbacker, commander of the 94th Air Squadron is one. There are at present about 1,200 members in the United States.

One of the qualifications for membership is that the member's life must have been saved by the use of a carbon dioxide rubber raft. In the parlance of the service, this experience is called "ditching." In some cases members have been "ditched" two or even three times. Lt. Richard Dumm's experience in "ditching" happened January 8-12, 1945, in the Adriatic Sea.

Lieutenant Dumm, who is at present stationed at Randolph Field, Tex., has recently received a promotion to first lieutenant in the U.S.A.A.F.

Among the other exhibitors are Marianne Appel, Rolin Crumpton, Peggy Dadds, Georgina Klitgaard, Doris Lee, Eugene Ludins, Margaret Lowengrund, Ethel and Jenne Magafan, Charles Rosen, Elizabeth Terrell and three pieces of sculpture by Hannah Small.

UP TO ALL

The National Safety Council, announcing its figures on accidents during 1945, says that mishaps of all kinds took 96,000 lives in this country during the year, injured 10,300,000 persons, and caused total economic loss estimated at $5,200,000,000. That is one year's cost of Americans' national vice of carelessness.

Moreover, the council evidently does not expect much improvement during 1946. Fatalities last year were only one per cent greater than in 1944, according to the statement accompanying the statistics, but the comparison is misleading "because it does not accurately depict the seriousness of the current accident problem."

The explanation is that a drastic decline in accidents to military personnel should have been reflected in the total but actually "the nation celebrated V-J Day by going on a prolonged traffic spree that hasn't ended yet."

Adding details, the council reports that accidental deaths to military personnel dropped from 11,500 in 1944 to 6,500 last year, falling 43 per cent, but that traffic fatalities rose from 24,282 to 28,500, or 17 per cent. Still more disturbing is the fact traffic deaths rose only 1.3 per cent in the first seven months and jumped 36 per cent during the five months following V-J Day.

So it is certain that accidents in this category will take a greater toll during 1946 than they did in 1945 unless the trend is reversed. People are still driving old and none too safe automobiles over worn and none too safe roads. Only if enough drivers make it their business to take precautions at all times can death be prevented from reaping an ever-greater crop in the months ahead.

LOST TIME

"We must hang together or we'll all hang separately," said one of the Founding Fathers, and it is often impressive to check up and see how the principle works in a later day. Take the matter of economic production, for example, on which the American people have been concentrating more than usual. According to an estimate made by The Associated Press, the halting of one day's steel production prevents the manufacture of nearly 200,000 automobiles. Likewise, figured on the same basis, one day's loss of production would make a virtual loss, in round numbers, of

Refrigerators (of about 6 cubic foot capacity), 2,350,429

Electric irons and cabinets, 3,917,381

Contemplation of such figures should be enough to make any intelligent person regard the loss of working time more seriously than it has been lately.

FINDING NEW TREASURES

The war has added to Britons' knowledge of their past. Bombings have uncovered handsome mosaic pavements, previously unknown, dating back to Roman times. Either new buildings had been deliberately erected on old sites, or more probably rubbish accumulated over them until they were lost to memory.

This process is familiar to archaeologists, the best-known case being the seven cities erected successively on the site of ancient Troy. In Babylonia, Egypt and India archaeologists as a matter of course view all hills and mounds as possible places to dig. W. M. Flinders Petrie, the British authority on ancient Egypt, boasted that from horseback he could look over an area and immediately tell where it would be best to explore.

The United States has such possible discoveries, too, but hit-or-miss digging should not be conducted by amateurs. Half of the value of a discovery is lost by not calling in professional archaeologists, who can derive

'These Days'

By George E. Sokolsky

THE NEW YORK NIGHTMARE

What happened in New York on Lincoln's Birthday cannot be regarded as an isolated example of a public official getting a bad case of the jitters and flying off the handle in a fit of temper. That hardly explains the conduct of Mayor O'Dwyer in shutting down a city of 7,500,000 Americans. Nor does the fact that some 3,500 tugboat workers and owners could not agree on terms to settle a strike explain it. Nor even is a threatened coal shortage a sufficient explanation for the use of the police at subway stations to tell the citizens not to go to work.

We need to go deeper into the psychology of the mayor and his commissions to grasp the mentality of those who no longer are servants of the people but their governors, their rulers, their masters. What Bill O'Dwyer did to the whole city of New York, every little wheeze of an O.P.A. inspector did to grocers and butchers during most of the war. When Bill O'Dwyer closed office, store, factory, school, theatre, night club; when he froze us in our homes even if we possessed coal and reduced transport in the subways, even if we had urgent business to attend to, he was pursuing the current attitude of the new officialdom, the attitude best stated by a snip of an N.L.R.B. lawyer some years ago in a manner and tone alien to America:

Nobody asks, "What of it?" Who and what is sovereign in the United States? The Constitution, of course, says, "We, the people. . . ." And in former generations, the people would have been on the neck of an official who dared to close down a city because he could not think of anything else to do. The fact is that it never happened before, because no American would ever have thought of doing it. It has happened on Lincoln's Birthday, 1946, because this country is slowly becoming conditioned to accepting a government official as something apart, somewhat sacrosanct, someone to be honored and obeyed.

That is not the American tradition—not even for the President of the United States. The tradition of this country used to be that an elected official was a fellow who could be voted out of office at will, whose tenure was likely to be short and should be. An appointed official was looked upon as a nitwit who could not earn a living any other way. In Germany, the official was always a big shot no matter how minor his office. In both Czarist and Stalinist Russia, the official is despotic.

Normally, the American people would have responded to O'Dwyer's shutting down the city with a Bronx cheer. They would have marched on the City Hall in protest. There would have been street corner meetings with the mayor burned in effigy. But not in the year 1946. The city took it as sheep to go to slaughter. True the press expressed indignation without exception. For once, newspapers of every kind and opinion denounced the mayor's government by temper. The press still loves liberty.

But the citizens are frightened. They are getting used to being pushed around as they are getting accustomed to standing on line for their daily necessities by a clerk or a Red Cop or a waiter. It is not the war that has done that; it is the flock of government officials who have been examining and investigating and holding lines and issuing regulations and acting high and mighty as though the country were theirs and not ours. And as long as the American people like it that way, they will have it that way.

Bill O'Dwyer, Mayor of New York, shut down New York city by a proclamation over a city-owned radio station at about 10 p. m. when hardly anybody listened to that station. He opened the city the following day after 6 p. m. and hardly anyone of its 7,500,000 citizens was awake. He did it on his own, without warning, without discussion or consideration. He is the master. Tremble and obey!

INFLAMMATION

It is natural for us to consider any pain near a joint rheumatism or arthritis, but there is a nagging pain or pains found near a joint that is not rheumatism or arthritis although years ago it was often called muscular rheumatism. This condition is called fibrositis because it is an inflammation of the fibrous end of a muscle; that is the end part of the muscle which forms the tendon which attaches the muscle to a bone so that the bone can be moved.

Although it is not arthritis or rheumatism it is often caused by the same conditions or defects that cause arthritis and rheumatism that is infected teeth, tonsils, sinuses, gums and large intestine. Also, just as in arthritis and rheumatism the severe nagging pains disappear for the most part but become more or less active when the individual is tired, rundown, has thin blood or is exposed to drafts and wet cold weather.

Why is it that these nagging pains return after the underlying cause is removed?

This again is similar to rheumatism and arthritis in that some damage has been done to the fibrous end or tendon of the muscle just as permanent damage has been done to a joint in arthritis. In both cases it needs only a little jar to the joint or muscle, a draft or exposure to cause a flare-up of the symptoms.

What about treatment of fibrositis? Here again the same treatment as in arthritis is given — pain relieving drugs, salicylates, internally and externally in ointments to be rubbed into the affected part. Thus the old fashioned oil of wintergreen gives great relief.

By heating the part in any way — hot applications, electric pad, heat lamp — for ten minutes, then rubbing in the ointment containing the salicylates — acetyl salicylic acid — for five minutes the ointment is much more effective than when applied to a cold surface. Heat dilates or enlarges the blood vessels which relieves tension. Tension is the cause of the pain.

That Ulster county veterans are taking advantage of the educational benefits of the G.I. Bill of Rights will be seen by the following list of young men and women who have made their applications through the Ulster County Service Agency during the month of January. The schools they have selected are listed but some may have changed their choices due to the crowded conditions in many of the colleges. Besides the list there were scores more who have filed their necessary papers to make them eligible for future enrollment.

In addition to those who are attending colleges and vocational schools, there are many who are taking advantage of the "On the Job" training programs in various factories and businesses. Under these programs the veteran receives the same subsistence allowance as if attending college.

Waldron DuMont and Howard Shurtler, State Veterans' Counselors at the Ulster County Service Agency, 240 Fair Street are handling the educational, vocational and training applications of these veterans and their advice to all veterans is to call at the agency, have their discharges recorded and file the necessary forms establishing their eligibility for benefits even though they have not yet decided upon their school or training plans.

The list includes:

Jesse Laders, Kingston, Central Academy of Beauty Culture, Newburgh.

Bertram Wesley Burns, Kingston, Hamilton College.

Herbert W. Windham, Jr., New Paltz, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Donald James Bowra, Saugerties, Clarkson College of Technology.

Philip L. Messina, Highland, Fordham University.

Lewis Burton Ocker, Allaben, Roosevelt Aviation School.

Roger Wallace Mabie, Port Jervis, Harvard Business School.

Ernest Albert Friedell, Kingston, New York University.

Hugh W. Clark, Kingston, Veterans Vocational School.

George H. Silkworth, Stone Ridge, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Archie Robinson, Kingston, Hemphill School, Inc.

Emanuel J. Kinst, Kingston, Rutgers College.

Ralph Nelson Marries Angeline E. Forte

The wedding of Miss Angeline L. Forte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Machileo Forte, 12 Devo Street, to Ralph E. Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Nelson of Eufaula, Okla., took place Sunday at 12:30 p. m. in St. Mary's Church. The Rev. John Drew officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Theodore Riccobono was organist for the wedding and Miss Patricia Keefe sang "Ave Maria."

Mr. Forte gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of ivory white satin made with scalloped neckline, and full net skirt. Her finger tip veil was attached to a Marie Antoinette head piece. She carried white roses and lilies. Miss Terry Forte, as maid of honor for her sister, wore a gown of pink nixon made with full skirt and shirred bodice. She carried pink roses and lilies. The bride's mother wore a gay print dress with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

A reception for 50 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents. Afterward Mr. and Mrs. Nelson left for a visit to the bridegroom's family in Eufaula, then to Corpus Christi, Tex., to visit Michael Forte, seaman first class, brother of the bride, who is attending radar school there.

For traveling the bride chose an aqua suit trimmed with silver sequins; three-quarter length black with brocade trim; white hat with black sequins, black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mr. Nelson is a graduate of Kingston High School and has been employed by Byrne-Ross, Mr. Nelson was discharged from the army January 23 at Fort Leven-

Planned Parenthood Group Hears Reports of Conference

A meeting of the Ulster County Committee for Planned Parenthood was held at the home of Mrs. Henry J. Wood, chairman, in Hurley, Thursday afternoon.

The 25th annual conference of the Planned Parenthood of America was held at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York city in January. Reports of the meeting were given by Mrs. Holly Carpenter, Mrs. Henry J. Wood, and Mrs. Louis Keger, Jr. The theme of the conference was "The Challenge of Today's Children."

According to the reports the Planned Parenthood Federation in 1945 aims at three well defined objectives:

"To continue on a community basis to spread information on planned families.

Dr. Leona Baumgartner, director of Child Hygiene Division, Department of Health, City of New York, was a speaker. She chose as her topic "Health Hazards Facing the World's Children." After discussing some of the sobering conditions in which she found children during her recent inspection tour through France and England, she declared, "We in America, must face the fact that it is extremely important to us what happens to the health and education of these children, because these are the children with whom our children will have to keep the peace of the world."

Deploing the lack of expert medical aid for the one in ten married couples who find themselves childless, Dr. John Rock, noted Harvard scientist and director of the Fertility, Endocrine and Rhythm Clinic at the Free Hospital for Women, Brookline, Mass., recommended that "public demand" be made evident so that adequate services may be provided. He continued his talk on "What We Know of Infertility and Its Correction" by saying that every young couple should be taught their obligation to bring up children in their own interests as well as society.

Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ was the principal speaker at the closing dinner. He stated that planned parenthood is an expression of the Christian principle that altruism the sacredness of human personality has a large contribution to make to the future peace of the world. He believed in planned parenthood springs from a belief in the value of the individual soul and is therefore fundamentally a Christian concept, he said.

The Lasker awards were presented to Dr. Robert L. L. Lasker, one of the country's leading gynecologist and obstetricians, for significant contribution to research in human fertility, and to Dr. Irl Cephas Riggan, Virginia's progressive State Health Commissioner for meritorious public health service. Dr. Riggan has led Virginia in becoming the seventh state in the union to make planned parenthood service available as part of the state's public health program of maternal care.

An interesting discussion followed the reading of the reports.

Lt. R. C. Dumm Joins Sea Squatters Club

Lt. Richard C. Dumm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Dumm, 14 Mountain View Avenue, has been notified that he has been accepted to membership in the Sea Squatters Club. This club was organized originally by 10 charter members of whom Captain Edward V. Rickenbacker, commander of the 94th Aerial Squadron is one. There are at present about 1,200 members in the United States.

One of the qualifications for membership is that the member's life must have been saved by the use of a carbon dioxide rubber raft. In the parlance of the service, this experience is called "ditching." In some cases members have been "ditched" two or even three times. Lt. Richard Dumm's experience in "ditching" happened January 8-12, 1945, in the Adriatic Sea. Lieutenant Dumm, who is at present stationed at Randolph Field, Tex., has recently received a promotion to first lieutenant in the U.S.A.A.F.

Eleanor Coming Home

Berlin, Feb. 16 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt boarded a plane for London today after a three-day visit to Frankfurt and Berlin. She was said to be planning to go immediately from London to Dublin and to leave Sunday for the United States.

By a congressional act of 1930, Coast Guard cutters were authorized to fire on a vessel if, after the Coast Guard ensign had been hoisted, the vessel persisted in refusal to heave to.

Electrol-Hercules Meet in Challenge For March of Dimes

Sale of Tickets Indicates Big Turnout at Central Rec Lanes: Match Scheduled for 2 P. M.

The first block of the annual March of Dimes bowling challenge match between teams representing Hercules and Electrol is scheduled Sunday at the Central Recs at 2 o'clock. The second block will be rolled on March 3.

The advance sale of tickets presages another large turnout at the Central Recreation alleys Sunday afternoon, even though officials of the Electrol and Hercules teams are skeptical of reaching last year's total.

Both squads will have heavy rooting sections which should add color to the already keen rivalry between the two keeling outfits.

The key bowlers on both teams are "hot" at the present time and indications point to a high scoring duel. Rival captains, Joe Dulin and Charlie Rabble, both are confident of easy victories.

The lineup: Hercules—Norm Niles, Joe Dulin, Jack Martin, Chick Maurer and Les Hotelling.

Electrol—Tony La Rocca, Jim Abbott, Ben Toffel, Bob East and Stubby Jordan.

Van Kleeck's Bowl Elks Here Tonight At Central Alleys

The Hudson Valley League pennant hopes of Kingston's Van Kleeck, pored to four games in the last two weeks, will get another crucial test tonight on the Central Rec drives at 8 o'clock.

Middletown Elks, featuring most of the former State Hospital lineup, and currently in fourth place, will furnish the opposition. The Elks are a potent threat with Emil Garbarino, Art Gunderson, Yank Lavinor, Tom Pines and Jimmy Larkin.

Jones Dairy faces Monticello here Sunday, while Trailways travel to Ellenville.

The runners-up Newburgh Finigans face plenty of trouble in Waiden.

Hogan Leads Field In Southern Golf

New Orleans, Feb. 16 (AP)—It looked like old times today in the New Orleans open golf tournament, with Ben Hogan leading the field, Byron Nelson close behind and Sam Snead swinging along with those right behind.

All three shot three-under-par 69's yesterday, a figure which only Clayton Hearner of Charlotte, N. C., has equaled in the present tournament held on the 660-yard City Park course.

As a result, Hogan, a Texan who now makes Hershey, Pa., his headquarters, had a two-stroke lead at 140 with the tournament half over.

Sam Byrd of Detroit, tied with Hogan for a first-round lead at 71, took 76 strokes yesterday and fell back to 147.

Nelson, of Toledo, O., had been in a third-place tie with four others at 73 before yesterday's effort which boosted him to 142. Snead, from Hot Springs, Va., and Hearner added their 69's to 74's on the previous day, and shared the 143 spot with Jim Ferrer of Chicago, Australian champion, who put a 70 on top of his opening 73.

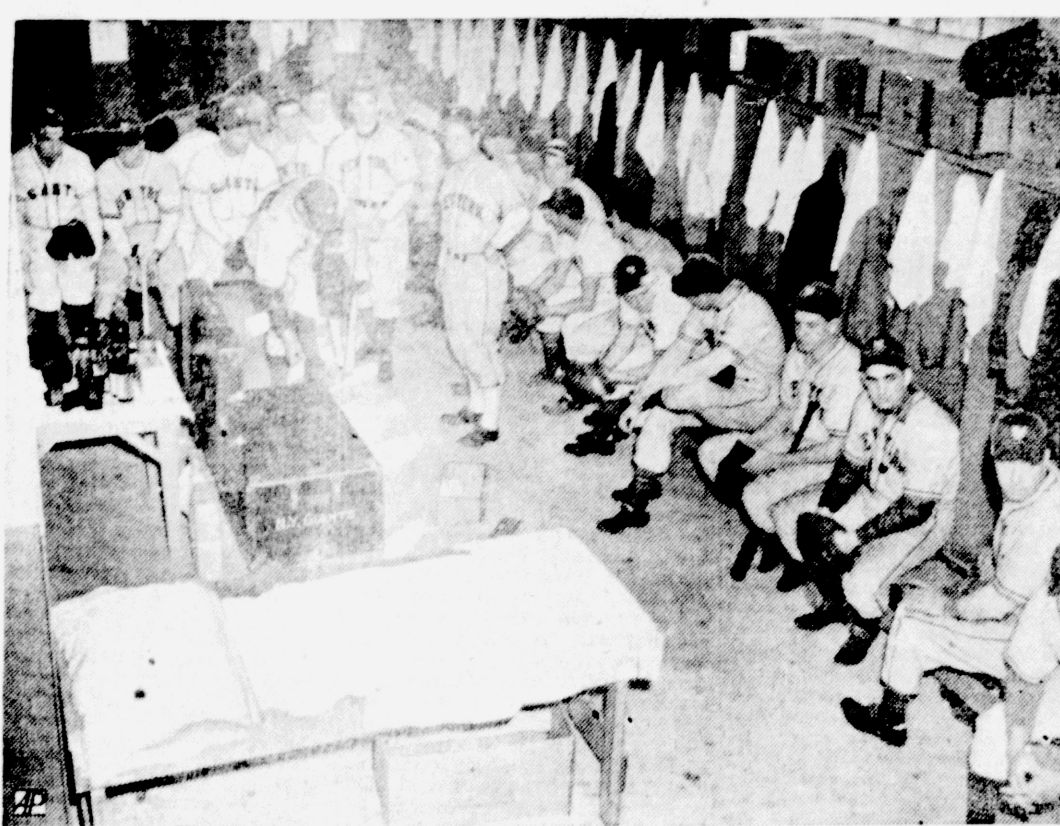

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)
Hollywood, Calif.—Manuel Ortiz, 123½, El Centro, Calif., stopped Eli Galindo, 122, Los Angeles, (4), Non-title.

Chicago—Bob Montgomery, 140, Philadelphia, outpointed Leo Rodak, 138½, Chicago, (10), Non-title.

New York—Willie Joyce, 138, Gary, Ind., outpointed Allie Stolz, 133½, Newark, N. J., (10).

Detroit—Ray (Sugar) Robinson, 147½, New York, knocked out O'Neill Bell, 151¾, Detroit, (2).

GIANTS IN FLORIDA—Mel Ott (center, hand on hip) talks things over with the boys in the dressing room at Miami, Fla., where the New York Giants are in spring training.

BETTER BOWLING

By Billy Sixty

Single Shift: On 28 spareleaves (there are 29 all told) it is best to use as much "angle" as possible. That means simply moving well over to the left side of the alley to shoot at right hand spare combinations made up of one or all of the 1-3-6-9-10 pins. And it means shooting the 1-2-4-5-7-8 spare combinations from the right side, a bit more toward the gutter than the normal position taken for a right-handed strike ball.

There you have the full picture of what "angling" to do, plus the need of "pointing" the feet and body to face the pin or pins. You do that on 28 spares of 29, the lone exception being 2-5.

The 2-5 spare always was Hank Marino's big headache until he changed his shooting angle. He made the single shift advised in the entire rigmarole of spare shooting—the one of 29—by moving over to the left side of the alley to shoot ordinarily "right angle" pins. It so happened that Marino's ball had very little hook break and in shooting the 2-5 on the left side he aimed for the outside (left) of the 2 pin and it got the 5.

Regardless of whether the left or right angle is used, however, it is best to speed up the ball to cut down its hook. Good spare bowlers, remember, use as little break (hook or backup) as possible. They shoot at the pins.

Violets Considered Top College Court Squad in Country

The Violets of New York University, on the strength of their stellar upset victory over Notre Dame last Saturday night, have taken over full leadership in the weekly Converse-Dunkel basketball rating. The Violets have skyrocketed into the driver's seat in the standings of the nation's 10 top clubs and also lead in the eastern sectional standings. Last week's leaders, the Oklahoma A. and M. club, dropped out of all consideration this week.

N.Y.U. paces the 10 top teams with a 76.9 rating and holds a slim lead over Iowa which is second with 76.3. Ohio State, top team a few weeks back, is in third with 76.0. Others in the first 10 include Northwestern 75.9, Notre Dame 75.5, Purdue 75.4, Bowling Green 75.1, Indiana 74.8, Kentucky 74.7 and North Carolina 74.5.

In sectional standings N.Y.U. has piled up a 76.9 rating in the east with the Philadelphia Naval Base in second with 74.7. Syracuse is in third with 72.9. Others in the first 10 bracket are Muhlenberg 72.3, Yale 71.4, Valley Forge Hospital 71.1, Dartmouth 70.9, Temple 70.9, Cornell 70.8 and Army 69.1.

Out in the Midwest Iowa holds the lead with 76.3 followed by Ohio State with 76.0 and Northwestern is third with 75.9. Notre Dame holds down the fourth spot with 75.5. In the south and southwest Kentucky leads with 74.7 followed by North Carolina having a 74.5 rating. On the Pacific coast Camp Ross is the No. 1 club with 70.1. California is second with 69.1.

Kerhonkson Whips Saugerties, 51-35

Next Wednesday night Kerhonkson plays host to the Rosendale Firemen.

D. Schoonmaker, W. Decker and Quick paced Kerhonkson in the victory with 11 points apiece. Garrison of Saugerties found the hoop for 10. The Farmers had a 26 to 18 lead at halftime.

The score:

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, FEBRUARY 16, 1946

UP TO ALL

The National Safety Council, announcing its figures on accidents during 1945, says that mishaps of all kinds took 96,000 lives in this country during the year, injured 10,300,000 persons, and caused total economic loss estimated at $5,200,000,000. That is one year's cost of Americans' national vice of carelessness.

Moreover, the council evidently does not expect much improvement during 1946. Fatalities last year were only one per cent greater than in 1944, according to the statement accompanying the statistics, but the comparison is misleading "because it does not accurately depict the seriousness of the current accident problem."

The explanation is that a drastic decline in accidents to military personnel should have been reflected in the total but actually "the nation celebrated V-J Day by going on a prolonged traffic spree that hasn't ended yet."

Adding details, the council reports that accidental deaths to military personnel dropped from 11,500 in 1944 to 6,500 last year, falling 43 per cent, but that traffic fatalities rose from 24,282 to 28,500, or 17 per cent. Still more disturbing is the fact traffic deaths rose only 1.3 per cent in the first seven months and jumped 36 per cent during the five months following V-J Day.

So it is certain that accidents in this category will take a greater toll during 1946 than they did in 1945 unless the trend is reversed. People are still driving old and none too safe automobiles over worn and none too safe roads. Only if enough drivers make it their business to take precautions at all times can death be prevented from reaping an ever-greater crop in the months ahead.

LOST TIME

"We must hang together or we'll all hang separately" said one of the Founding Fathers, and it is often impressive to check up and see how the principle works in a later day. Take the matter of economic production, for example, on which the American people have been concentrating more than usual. According to an estimate made by The Associated Press, the halting of one day's steel production prevents the manufacture of nearly 200,000 automobiles. Likewise, figured on the same basis, one day's loss of production would make a virtual loss, in round numbers, of:

Gas or electric ranges, 1,469,018
Refrigerators (of about 6 cubic foot capacity), 2,350,429
Typical small houses, 37,332
Railroad freight cars, 8,116
Thirty-gallon hot water tanks, 3,456,129
Electric irons and cabinets, 3,917,381
Washing machines, 5,341,884
Typewriters, 14,690,180.

Contemplation of such figures should be enough to make any intelligent person regard the loss of working time more seriously than it has been lately.

FINDING NEW TREASURES

The war has added to Britons' knowledge of their past. Bombings have uncovered handsome mosaic pavements, previously unknown, dating back to Roman times. Either new buildings had been deliberately erected on old sites, or more probably rubbish accumulated over them until they were lost to memory.

This process is familiar to archaeologists, the best-known case being the seven cities erected successively on the site of ancient Troy. In Babylonia, Egypt and India archaeologists as a matter of course view all hills and mounds as possible places to dig. W. M. Flinders Petrie, the British authority on ancient Egypt, boasted that from horseback he could look over an area and immediately tell where it would be best to explore.

The United States has such possible discoveries, too, but hit-or-miss digging should not be conducted by amateurs. Half the value of a discovery is lost by not calling in professional archaeologists, who can derive groups.

What happened in New York on Lincoln's Birthday cannot be regarded as an isolated example of a public official getting a bad case of the pitters and lying off the handle in a fit of temper. That hardly explains the conduct of Mayor O'Dwyer in shutting down a city of 7,500,000 Americans. Nor does the fact that some 3,500 tugboat workers and owners could not agree on terms to settle a strike explain it. Nor even is a threatened coal shortage a sufficient explanation for the use of the police at subway stations to tell the citizens not to go to work.

We need to go deeper into the psychology of the mayor and his commissions to grasp the mentality of those who no longer are servants of the people but their governors, their rulers, their masters. What Bill O'Dwyer did to the whole city of New York, every little wheeze of an O.P.A. inspector did to the taxpayers during most of the war. When Bill O'Dwyer closed office, store, factory, school, theatre, night club; when he froze us in our homes even if we possessed coal and reduced transport to a crawl, he was pursuing the current attitude of the new officialdom: the attitude best stated by a snip of an N.L.R.B. lawyer some years ago in a manner and tone alien to America:

"When you talk to me, you're talking to the government of the United States."

Nobody asks, "What of it?"

Who and what is sovereign in the United States? The Constitution, of course, says, "We, the people." And in former generations, the people would have been on the neck of an official who dared to close down a city because he could not think of anything else to do. The fact is that it never happened before, because no American would ever have thought of doing it. It has happened on Lincoln's Birthday, 1946, because this country is slowly becoming conditioned to accepting a government official as something apart, somewhat sacrosanct, someone to be honored and obeyed.

That is not the American tradition—not even for the President of the United States. The tradition of this country used to be that an elected official was a fellow who could be voted out of office at will, whose tenure was likely to be short and should be. A representative official was looked upon as a nitwit who could not earn a living any other way. In Germany, the official was always a big shot no matter how minor his office. In both Czarist and Stalinist Russia, the official is despotic.

Normally, the American people would have responded to O'Dwyer's shutting down the city with a Bronx cheer. They would have marched on the City Hall in protest. There would have been street corner meetings with the mayor burned in effigy. But not in the year 1946. The city took it as sheep go to slaughter. True the press expressed indignation without exception. For once, newspapers of every kind and opinion denounced the mayor's government by temper. The press still loves liberty.

But the citizens are frightened. They are getting used to being pushed around as they are getting accustomed to standing on line for their daily necessities by a clerk or a Red Cap or a waiter.

It is not the war that has done that; it is the flock of government officials who have been examining and investigating and holding lines and issuing regulations and acting high and mighty as though the country were theirs and not ours. And as long as the American people like it that way, they will have it that way.

Bill O'Dwyer, Mayor of New York, shut down New York City by a proclamation over a city-owned radio station at about 10 p. m. when hardly anybody listened to that station. He opened the city the following day after 6 p. m. and hardly anyone of its 7,500,000 citizens knew it was open. He did it on his own, without warning, without discussion or consideration. He is the master. Tremble and obey!

INFLAMMATION

It is natural for us to consider any pain near a joint rheumatism or arthritis, but there is a nagging pain or pains found near a joint that is not rheumatism or arthritis although years ago it was often called muscular rheumatism. This condition is called fibrositis because it is an inflammation of the fibrous end of a muscle; that is the end part of the muscle which forms the tendon which attaches the muscle to a bone so that the bone can be moved.

In fibrositis the joint is not swollen or painful, there is no rise in temperature, in fact the individual is not sick but simply bothered with this nagging pain.

Although it is not arthritis or rheumatism it is often caused by the same conditions or defects that cause arthritis and rheumatism that is infected teeth, tonsils, sinuses, gums and large intestine. Also, just as in arthritis and rheumatism the severe nagging pains disappear for the most part but become more or less active when the individual is tired, rundown, has thin blood or is exposed to drafts and wet cold weather.

Why is it that these nagging pains return after the underlying cause is removed?

This again is similar to rheumatism and arthritis in that some damage has been done to the fibrous end or tendon of the muscle just as permanent damage has been done to a joint in arthritis. In both cases it needs only a little jar to the joint or muscle, a draft or exposure to cause a flare-up of the symptoms.

Here again the same treatment as in arthritis is given—pain relievers, drugs, salicylates, internally and externally in ointments to be rubbed into the affected part. Thus the old fashioned oil of wintergreen gives great relief.

By heating the part in any way—hot applications, electric pad, heat lamp—for ten minutes, then rubbing in the ointment containing the salicylates—acetylsalicylic acid—for five minutes the ointment is much more effective than when applied to a cold surface. Heat dilates or enlarges the blood vessels which relieves tension. Tension is the cause of the pain.

Judge Henry E. McKenzie, for years one of the leading members of the Ulster County Bar, was elected president of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association at its 36th annual convention in Newburgh on June 17, 1925. Andrew J. Murphy, Strand sporting goods dealer, were re-elected treasurers.

Judge McKenzie, who died some years ago, for years had been one of the outstanding residents of Port Ewen, where he was active in the political and civic life of the village.

For years Judge McKenzie was interested in fireman matters, and active not only in the Port Ewen Fire Department, but with fireman affairs in the Hudson river valley.

Robert J. Dwyer of the widely known firm of Dwyer Brothers died on June 16, 1925, in his home on West Chestnut street, aged 65 years. He was a lifelong resident of Kingston, and at an early age entered in business with his brothers, James F. Dwyer and Thomas Dwyer, under the firm name of Dwyer Brothers.

The firm was first engaged in the ship chandlery business and as the years passed the firm widened its activities to include the brick and ship building industries; the harvesting of natural ice, and the transportation business on the Hudson river.

The firm for years owned several ice houses along the Hudson river.

The firm of Dwyer Brothers, carried on by the younger members of the Dwyer family, is still one of the outstanding business and industrial concerns of Kingston and the Hudson river valley.

At the high school Monday night the Teachers' College five played a mixed team from the town. In a close game the college five came from behind in the last quarter to win by the score of 33 to 27.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, Feb. 15.—Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Michel are the parents of a son, Frederick Joseph, born in the Kingston Hospital.

Sullivan-Shafer Post of the American Legion met in the Legion hall Monday evening. The ladies of the auxiliary also met and later a social hour with refreshments was enjoyed.

A large number of study club members were present at the meeting on Tuesday to hear Miss Elsie M. Cane of George Jensen, Inc., New York city. Miss Cane gave a biography of the famous craftsman, his work, ideals, ambitions and success. The lecture was illustrated by a display of objects from the George Jensen collection.

The confraternity of Christian Doctrine and Study Club of St. Joseph's Church, meets every Thursday evening in the church.

William Cloos spent the past week-end with his family in Richmond Hill. Mr. Cloos came to New Paltz last November to open his factory at Lloyd for the manufacture of children's toys and home furniture. He expects to have about 30 people working by spring.

S. M. Kevan has returned to Washington, D. C., after spending a few days at his home here.

The annual meeting of the New Paltz Rural Cemetery Association was held in the fire department rooms last Tuesday evening. President Harold L. Wood presided. Recommendations for the by-laws were made by the officers. Schuyler Millham, Otto B. Schmid and Peter H. Harp were elected trustees for a full term of three years. Superintendent's report showed that during the past year 50 burials had been made. The treasurer's report also was given. During the past year, the gate house has been moved, the main roads have been oil and greatly improved, and some of the trees have been properly taken care of. It was decided to make signs and post by-laws in various places about the cemetery. The plot holders meeting adjourned and the trustees met and organized with the same officers as in the preceding year: Harold L. Wood, president; Otto B. Schmid, vice-president; and Peter H. Harp, secretary and treasurer. All the trustees, Albert A. LeFevre, Frank DuBois, Jay Zimmerman, Harold L. Wood, Martin L. DuBois, Daniel Shaw, Schuyler Millham, Otto B. Schmid and Peter H. Harp were present. The committee on superintendency for the coming year includes Harold L. Wood, Martin L. DuBois and Peter H. Harp. Roy Upright was appointed superintendent for the ensuing year.

Captain and Mrs. Theodore R. Roth and daughter, Judith Ann, are spending some time in Forest Glen with Louis E. Roth, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Pole. Capt. Roth recently returned from the southwest Pacific and has been discharged from service.

QUIZZED IN ABDUCTION CHARGE

Patrolman Carl C. Carlson carries Josephine Wolfe, 2, into a Lakewood, N. J., courtroom where the woman at the right, who told police she is Elsie L. Test, 23, of Freehold, N. J., was questioned in connection with an abduction charge made in Philadelphia by Joseph's mother against Mrs. Leonore Baron. Miss Test said she was married to a man named Baron, killed in the war.

Meeting Called to Consider Feed Situation February 20

A year ago, due to the excessive snowfall in central and western New York, which tied up transportation, with the situation made worse by the shortage of labor, dairymen and poultrymen in Ulster county, as well as in other sections, faced a serious feed shortage. Poultrymen were selling their hens and dairymen were at their wits end to keep their herds going.

While no such desperate situation is apparent at the present time and so far there has been no recurrence of the hardships of 1945, other factors are giving the farmers cause for worry and Farm Bureau Agent Albert Kurtz said this morning that a definite shortage of feed by spring is feared.

In order, if possible, to devise methods to meet the threatened shortage Mr. Kurtz has called a special meeting of the Ulster county dairy and poultry committees. The meeting will be held at the Farm Bureau office, 74 John street, on Wednesday, February 20.

Given as a basic cause of trouble is the O.P.A. ceiling prices on grain in the Middle West. Mr. Kurtz noted that always there is a relationship between the price for grain and the price for hogs. At the present ceiling price for hogs and that for grain it pays to feed the grain and sell it in the shape of pork.

There is not an actual shortage of feed here at the present time it was stated—there is some grain here—but some of it, at least, is said to be moving at above ceiling prices, through "tie-in" sales and other methods. The price is high—$70 to $80 a ton—about double the price of not too many years ago.

Inventories of local grain and feed dealers were said to be "away down," with most dealers not taking on any new customers.

One element that enters into the situation is said to be the recent announcement by the secretary of agriculture that it would be necessary to conserve feed supplies in order to feed the people of Europe. In this connection comment of a well known Albany official was quoted, to the effect that despite the feed situation here at home "boatload after boatload," mostly wheat, is leaving Albany for overseas.

That the fears of a coming feed shortage is not merely a local matter indicated by a communication received at the Farm Bureau office from the State College of Agriculture, dated February 11.

This stated that the "disappearance of feed here at the present time it was stated—there is some grain here—but some of it, at least, is said to be moving at above ceiling prices, through "tie-in" sales and other methods. The price is high—$70 to $80 a ton—about double the price of not too many years ago.

Hint Russian Pressure
On Hungarian Bishop

London, Feb. 16 (AP)—Reuters said today the Vatican had announced that Cardinal-designate Josef Mindszenty, archbishop of Strigonia and primate of Hungary, had been refused Russian permission to leave Hungary to attend the consistories in Rome.

All but three of the 32 Cardinals-designate already have arrived in Rome for the ceremonies this week. Absent besides Archbishop Mindszenty are Archbishops Jules Seliege of Toulouse, France, and Johannes De Long of Utrecht, The Netherlands, both of whom will be unable to attend because of sickness.

Rome sources said last night that Mindszenty had signified his intention of attending.

Farmers Will Ask Higher Prices for Their Commodities

Feel They Need More to Keep Ahead of Other Increases Brought On by Raises

By FRANCIS J. KELLY

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—An "inevitable" drive to raise the price of farm commodities was forecast today by Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.) as a result of the new national formula permitting higher industrial wages and prices. Bankhead, a leader in agricultural legislation, claimed that the administration's revised economic policy would "increase tremendously the price of everything the farmer buys."

Several other farm state lawmakers took the position that increases could not be allowed for two such major segments of the nation's economy as industry and industrial labor without extending similar benefits to farming, which constitutes a third.

They referred to the new policy, announced by President Truman, permitting wage increases "within certain limits" and allowing industries placed under hardship by such action to seek price adjustments without waiting six months.

Bankhead told a reporter "it is inevitable that there will be an organized movement to protect the farmer from these burdens. The development is so new that I don't know yet just what the friends of the farmer in Congress will do. But I have no doubt that an effort will be made in a serious way to increase the prices of agricultural commodities."

"You can't sustain industry and labor at a high level of cost without an adequate purchasing power for the great mass of farmers,"

Senator Aiken (R-Vt.) remarked that Vermonters had a "bout" reached the conclusion they must meet the level of industrial wages for their hired help, or go out of business.

He said he wouldn't worry about the situation as long as wages and income go up faster than prices. Under those circumstances, Aiken said, the general standard of living will be raised. But if wages lagged behind a rise in prices, the result would be inflation, the Senator added.

Rigorous 18-Hour Daily Routine Is Continued by Pope

By EDMUND LAURA

Vatican City, Feb. 16 (AP)—Pope Pius XII is continuing his customary routine of 18 hours of work and study each day, despite some recent indications that his health is suffering under the cares of state and the burden of business connected with next week's consistories.

From members of the Papal household, it was learned today that the Pope usually retires at 1 a. m. and arises at 6 a. m. He takes a nap during the day.

To get his work done with maximum speed, the present Pope drafts documents on a typewriter—the first pontiff to use the machine.

Accurate Typist
A moderately fast typist, he uses a white lacquered portable of Italian manufacture. He is so accurate that he barely needs an eraser.

Persons close to him say the clatter of his typewriter can be heard in his private apartments most afternoons between 2:30 and 4 p. m. and again from shortly after 5 until 7 p. m. After supper, he studies documents for a while and then types again until midnight when he reads an hour before retiring.

Takes Daily Ride
The only period during the long day when the pontiff is not engaged actively in handling church business comes in the late afternoon when for an hour he takes an automobile ride through the Vatican gardens.

The Pope's luncheon and supper are light and brief, averaging 20 minutes each. During them, he occasionally reads or studies documents.

All his foods are seasoned very lightly, with none of the heavy tomato sauces which feature most Italian cooking. He eats spaghetti but rarely, and when he does, his "pasta" is seasoned only with Parmesan cheese, salt and pepper.

timber for war work and is now supplying private industry with lumber is William F. Suepfle of Stone Ridge who operates a saw mill at Olive Bridge and a planing mill at Stone Ridge where the rough lumber is planed and finished.

During the war Mr. Suepfle supplied a large quantity of oak timbers for minesweepers and subchairs which were built at the Hiltbrant yards in Connelly. He also supplied timbers under sub-contract to various concerns in New York and in many a ship which was sent out against the enemy was found stout Ulster county oak timbers.

Asked as to the extent of his war time operations, Mr. Suepfle stated that he had cut on an average of a million board feet of lumber each year during the war period and much of the oak went into war work. In addition to the oak there was a considerable amount of pine and hemlock.

Recently Mr. Suepfle purchased from the Coykendall estate a tract of 300 acres of timber land in the towns of Kingston and Woodstock and he will begin logging operations there shortly. These lands are located on Murray hill and on Dutch hill in the Sawkill and Stony Hollow localities. On the lots are many thousands of feet of both soft and hard woods.

Mr. Suepfle stated that there was a considerable stand of pine mixed with hard woods and he expected that the acreage would supply sufficient logging for about four years operations.

Modern Methods Used

Logging operations are carried on by Mr. Suepfle in the most modern manner. Timber cut on the ground is moved and loaded by power to motor trucks and hauled to the sawmill at Olive Bridge. This mill is one of the old landmarks and was formerly operated by Henry Winchell.

About four years ago Mr. Suepfle took over the mill and has operated it since. A year ago he purchased the sawmill and under the direction of Gordon Eckert, sawyer, the mill has turned out millions of feet of lumber. Mr. Eckert, known as one of the most expert sawyers in Ulster county, formerly worked for Mr. Winchell and has been engaged in the business for some 18 years. A resident of Lomontville, Mr. Eckert has a reputation of being able to get the most out of any log and Mr. Suepfle stated, "When Sawyer Eckert finished a log the timber cut runs true to dimensions. If he is sawing two by fours, they are two by fours and every timber is the same dimension. There is no odd sizes in that cut."

Once the rough lumber is sawed at Olive Bridge, if it is to become finished lumber it is trucked to Stone Ridge, where it is put through the planing mill and finished.

"We do a complete job from logging operations in the woods to completely finished lumber for the carpenter's saw," said Mr. Suepfle. All these operations are carried on with their trucks and equipment and the lumber is sold either in its rough state at the saw mill in Olive Bridge or finished at Stone Ridge. A retail business is well established and a wholesale business is carried on.

Mr. Suepfle said he now employed twelve men steadily and in the spring when logging operations begin on the newly acquired tracts, he will put additional men to work and the capacity of the sawmill will be maintained throughout the season.

Recently Mr. Suepfle purchased the timber on the Wiltwyck Golf Club property on Hurley avenue and at present is engaged in cutting that timber and hauling it to the mill at Olive Bridge. On the premises are a considerable amount of large hemlock trees and also pine.

In addition to the lumbering carried on by Mr. Suepfle, there are several more concerns engaged in local logging. The historic old Shults mills at Wittenberg are operating. There is the Schwab concern at Kerhonkson and Arthur Van Ertten who operates at Lake Katrine. In the Catskill mountain area are also several mills, among them the Dunham mill at Allaben and Jack Krein at Mt. Pleasant and numerous others of varying capacities.

Ulster county which once supplied a vast amount of timber for lumber, the tanning industry and other uses apparently is still doing a good job in war and peace to produce needed lumber for many purposes.

State Police Report Two Auto Accidents

State Police from the Highland Station were called to investigate two accidents during the night, neither reporting injuries.

The first occurred on Route 208 near the Wallkill Prison, at 7 p. m. Friday, when a car driven by Birger Herwall of Gardiner left the highway and knocked down a telephone pole. Herwall attempted to pass a Poughkeepsie laundry truck going in the same direction, the cars sideswiped and Herwall's car left the road. Herwall reported a minor injury to his arm. His car had to be towed to a garage.

The second accident was in Highland at 12:30 o'clock this morning, both drivers being Highland residents. Frank Tozzi had stopped his car because of a flat tire, when a car driven by Ernest Kreth struck the rear of the parked car. Damages were not extensive.

Sale of Tickets Indicates Big Turnout at Central Rec Lanes: Match Slated for 2 P. M.

The first block of the annual match of bowling challenge match between teams representing Hercules and Electrol is scheduled Sunday at the Central Rec at 2 o'clock. The second block will be rolled on March 3.

The advance sale of tickets presages another large turnout at the Central Recreation alleys Sunday afternoon, even though officials of the Electrol and Hercules teams are skeptical of reaching last year's total.

Both squads will have heavy rooting sections which should add color to the already keen rivalry between the two legging outfits.

The key bowlers on both teams are "hot" at the present time and indications point to a high scoring duel. Rival captains, Joe Dulin and Charlie Ralbie, both are confident of easy victories.

Competition between these organizations last year netted more than $250 for the March of Dimes bowling fund.

A small admission fee will be charged.

The lineups:

Hercules—Norm Niles, Joe Dulin, Jack Martin, Chick Maurer and Les Hotelling.

Electrol—Pony La Rocca, Jim Abbott, Ben Toffel, Bob East and Stubby Jordan.

Van Kleecks Bowl Elks Here Tonight At Central Alleys

The Hudson Valley League pennant hopes of Kingston's Van Kleecks, paired to four games in the last two weeks, will get another crucial test tonight on the Central Rec drives at 8 o'clock.

Middletown Elks, featuring most of the former State Hospital line-up, and currently in fourth place, will furnish the opposition. The Elks are a potent threat with Emil Garburino, Art Gunderson, Jack Livorcorri, Tom Pines and Yanky Larkin.

Jones Dairy faces Monticello here Sunday, while Trailways travel to Ellenville.

The runnersup Newburgh Finest will play at home in Walden.

Hogan Leads Field In Southern Golf

New Orleans, Feb. 16 (AP)—It looked like old times today in the New Orleans open golf tournament, with Ben Hogan leading the field, Byron Nelson close behind and Sam Snead swinging along with those right behind.

All three shot three-under-par 69's yesterday, a figure which only Clayton Horner of Charlotte, N. C., has equaled in the present tournament held on the 6608-yard City Park course.

As a result, Hogan, a Texan who now makes Hershey, Pa., his headquarters, had a two-stroke lead at 140 with the tournament half over.

Sam Byrd of Detroit, tied with Hogan for a first-round lead at 71, was 72 on Saturday and left back to 147.

Nelson, of Toledo, O., had been in a third-place tie with four others at 73 before yesterday's effort which boosted him to 142. Snead, from Hot Springs, Va., and Horner added their 69's to 74's on the previous day, and shared the 143 spot with Jim Ferraro of Chicago, Australian champion, who put a 70 on top of his opening 73.

Violets Considered Top College Court Squad in Country

The Violets of New York University, on the strength of their stellar upset victory over Notre Dame last Saturday night, have taken over full leadership in the weekly Converse-Dunkel basketball rating. The Violets have skyrocketed into the driver's seat in the standings of the nation's 10 top clubs and also lead in the eastern sectional standings. Last week's leaders, the Oklahoma A. and M. club, dropped out of all consideration this week.

N.Y.U. paces the 10 top teams with a 76.9 rating and holds a slim lead over Iowa which is second with 76.3. Ohio State, top team a few weeks back, is in third with 76.0. Others in the first 10 include Northwestern 75.9, Notre Dame 75.1, Purdue 75.4, Bowling Green 75.1, Indiana 74.8, Kentucky 74.7 and North Carolina 74.5.

In sectional standings N.Y.U. has piled up a 76.9 rating in the east with the Philadelphia Naval Base in second with 75.7. Syracuse is in third with 72.9. Others in the first 10 bracket are Muhlenberg 72.3, Yale 71.4, Valley Forge 71.1, Dartmouth 70.9, Temple 70.9, Cornell 70.8, Navy 69.1.

Out in the midwest Iowa holds the lead with 76.3 followed by Ohio State with 76.0 and Northwestern is third with 75.9. Notre Dame holds down the fourth spot with 75.1. In the south and southwest, Kentucky leads with 74.7 followed by North Carolina having a 74.5 rating. On the Pacific coast, Camp Ross is the No. 1 club with 74.1. California is second with 69.1.

Kerhonkson Whips Saugerties, 51-35

The Kerhonkson Farmers made it seven in a row last Thursday night by trouncing the strong Saugerties American Legion team by 51 to 35 on their home court.

Next Wednesday night Kerhonkson plays host to the Rosebush Firemen.

D. Schoonmaker, W. Decker and Quick paced Kerhonkson in the victory with 11 points apiece. Garrison of Saugerties found the hoop for 10. The Farmers had a 26 to 18 lead at halftime.

Willie Joyce Gets Decision Victory Over Allie Stolz

11,137 Fans Witness One of Greatest Matches in Lightweight Class Friday Night

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Willie Joyce and Allie Stolz staged one of the greatest lightweight punch parties in Madison Square Garden's history last night, and after it was over, the referee just leaned back against the ropes and shook his head in amazement.

He may have been thinking back to the fighting days of Benny Leonard, who retired as undefeated lightweight champion, or he may have been figuring, like a lot of the cash customers, that he had never seen a better scrap.

But all he said was: "Brother, this was it."

And since the visibly impressed referee in the ring last night was Leonard himself, you can easily imagine what a fistic masterpiece Joyce and Stolz put on for the 14,137 paying guests who tossed $70,025 in "house Jacobs" cash registers.

Guts Revenge

Getting even for a verdict he dropped last November, Joyce won a split decision—Leonard, as referee, gave it to Stolz and the two judges voted Joyce. But it was the kind of fight that had you talking about the speed and the swiftness and the cleverness of early-bred Allie and Indiana Willie from the opening bell to the final gong of the ten heats. The Associated Press score card voted with Benny—five rounds for the New Jersey joltster four for Joyce, one even.

The fight with Joyce doing a Henry Armstrong buzzsaw job and the fast-stepping, smooth-working Stolz reaching a new high in cleverness, left Promoter Jacobs on the spot. Figuring Stolz would repeat his November victory, he'd promised Allie a non-title shot at New York-recognized Lightweight champion Bob Montgomery in the Garden March 8. But as soon as the votes were all counted, and Joyce took the decision, Indiana Willie's fistic cheering section—and Willie himself—began hollering for that spot.

Big Rally Decides Game for Monties On Friday Night

Early Kingston Margin to Overcome in Closing Periods; Murray Scores 20 Points

Going down to their second heartbreaking defeat this week, Kingston High's basketball squad dropped a close 41-40 decision to Monticello Friday night at the municipal auditorium before a packed house of thrilled fans. The Maroon had its big three scoring line back in action after a week and one half's absence, but the Monticello jinx held on fast, and the locals were beaten out in the closing minutes.

Monticello was the only DUSO team to defeat Kingston in the first round, and this "hoofer" held on in this round, for it was not in the books for the locals to win last night. The Maroon was leading all the way, but they seemed to fall apart in the last quarter while the Monties did just the opposite.

Murray Scores 20

However, one member of the big three of the Maroon scoring attack was up to par last night as Bob Murray came through with 20 points. "Red" was the big man for Kingston in the first half as he tossed in 15 of the 23 points that the Klasmen gathered in that first two stanzas.

Kingston took a 13 to 9 lead in the first period and made it 23-13 at halftime. During the third stanza the Maroons led by 32-23 one time but at the end of the chukker the lead was sliced to 36-31.

Kaplan started Monticello off in the final period with two quick dunks to cut the lead to 36-33. Albany followed in with a layup but Strasser scored one for the visitors, making it 38-37. At the one minute mark it was 39-31 as Kaplan scored a field and Albany flipped in a free throw. With the seconds ticking off, Kaplan came in again with a one-hander from the side giving Monticello a 41

PHOENICIA

Phoenicia, Feb. 15.—Six troops of the Boy Scouts of the western district held an exhibit of their work at the Grange hall at Mt. Pleasant, Wednesday evening, February 15. The Girl Scouts of Phoenicia, Troop 62, sold doughnuts and coffee at the gathering. They netted $9.73 for their troop. Three hundred were present.

It was during the recent war. One early evening in a heavy snowstorm a bus driver was "sing-ing in the snow." "Beautiful, beautiful snow," said he to himself. Not a soul in the bus. No need for him to call out, "Back please, give 'em room to get on"—no folks piling in, few with the right face—no one pushing, crowding through the mass to get off—nothing like that—all was quiet—all was bright with beautiful snow that kept the people home.

"Tough driving?"
"No, it's swell tonight, not many people riding."

The driver was supremely happy in the storm. He could enjoy nature's beauty in glorious quietude. A place in our big white book for the war-time bus driver. He did a wonderful job.

And so it goes—"ad infinitum."

Some years ago—when folks went into bankruptcy—a man took it, at time he was supposed to list his assets, debts, etc. His big new car mysteriously disappeared during the court proceedings. A creditor asked how it happened that he went through bankruptcy and that he, a bankrupt, was riding around in a fine car.

Bankrupt Man (explaining)—Well, you see I went through bankruptcy, but the automobile went around.

If machines can't think, why is it that your automobile horn never sticks except where there are crowds to stare?

The Englishman was visiting this country for the first time, and as he was driving along the highway, he saw a large sign reading: "Drive Slow. This Means You!"

The Englishman stopped in surprise and exclaimed: "My word. How did they know I was over here?"

The main trouble with postwar automobiles will be too many pre-war drivers. Crit.

When police discovered a soldier in Hastings, Nebraska, smashing the windows of an automobile they investigated. It turned out that the soldier was "punishing" the car because it wouldn't start.

Legion Post Players in

Saugerties Performance

The Kingston Post Players, members of Kingston Post, American Legion, are scheduled to give their famous mock trial performance, "What Price Charmain?" at the Municipal Auditorium, Saugerties, Thursday night, February 21. The occasion will be a get-together for veterans of World War II, with members of the American Legion Post.

"What Price Charmain?" was presented in the state army in Kingston in January, when some 800 veterans gathered to witness a revival of the performance, which attained great popularity in the days following World War I. The play was written by the late Thomas Coughlin, a former commander of Kingston Post and performances were given in Ulster, Sullivan and Dutchess counties.

Most of the members of the original cast will appear in the showing to be given at Saugerties next Thursday night.

QUIZZED IN ABDUCTION CHARGE

Patrolman Carl C. Carlson curries Joseph Louis Wolfe, 2, into a Lakewood, N. J., courtroom where the woman at the right, who told police she is Elsie L. Test, 23, of Freehold, N. J., was questioned in connection with an abduction charge made in Philadelphia by Joseph's mother against Mrs. Leonore Baron. Miss Test said she was married to a man named Baron, killed in the war.

Meeting Called to Consider Feed Situation February 20

A year ago, due to the excessive snowfall in central and western New York, which tied up transportation, with the situation made worse by the shortage of labor, dairymen and poultrymen in Ulster county, as well as in other sections, faced a serious feed shortage. Poultrymen were selling their hens and dairymen were at their wits end to keep their herds going.

While no such desperate situation is apparent at the present time and so far there has been no recurrence of the handicaps of 1945, other factors are giving the farmers cause for worry and Farm Bureau Agent Albert Kurdt said this morning that a definite shortage of feed by spring is feared.

In order if possible, to devise methods to meet the threatened shortage Mr. Kurdt has called a special meeting of the Ulster county dairy and poultry committees. The meeting will be held at the Farm Bureau office, 74 John street, on Wednesday, February 20.

Given as a basic cause of trouble is the O.P.A. ceiling prices on grain in the Middle West. Mr. Kurdt noted that always there is a relationship between the price for grain and the price for hogs. At the present ceiling price for hogs and that for grain it pays to feed the grain and sell it in the shape of pork.

There is not an actual shortage of feed here at the present time it was stated—there is some grain here—but some of it, at least, is said to be moving at above ceiling prices, through "tie-in" sales and other methods. The price is high—$70 to $80 a ton—about double the price of not too many years ago.

Inventories of local grain and feed dealers were said to be "away down," with most dealers not taking on any new customers.

One element that enters into the situation is said to be the recent announcement by the secretary of agriculture that it would be necessary to conserve feed supplies in order to feed the people of Europe. In this connection comment of a well known Albany official was quoted, to the effect that despite the feed situation here at home "boatload after boatload," mostly wheat, is leaving Albany for overseas.

The monthly quotas allotted to the feed mills is stated to be considerably less than a year ago.

This stated that the "disappearance" of feed grains during the October-December quarter, this year, was at least 12 per cent over the 1944-45 quarter. It was added that this rate of disappearance cannot continue because "there just isn't enough feed for all the livestock and people have to be fed."

The following were among recommendations made: Established poultrymen should start their usual number of pullets. Buy pullet chicks only. Reduce broiler production. Keep flock production at least 60 per cent by selling all hens that are not laying.

If you can't get enough feed for hens and chicks, better keep the chicks. Plan to grow more feed in 1946.

On Hungarian Bishop

London, Feb. 16 (AP)—Reuters said today the Vatican had announced that Cardinal-designate Josef Mindszenty, archbishop of Strigonia and primate of Hungary, had been refused Russian permission to leave Hungary to attend the consistory in Rome.

All but three of the 32 Cardinals-designate already have arrived in Rome for the ceremonies this week. Absent besides Archbishop Mindszenty are Archbishops Jules Seligie of Toulouse, France, and Johannes De Long of Utrecht, The Netherlands, both of whom will be unable to attend because of sickness.

Rome sources said last night that Mindszenty had signified his intention of attending.
